MORRIS LAUNCHES CONCERTED MOVE ON GOV. TALMADGE

Marietta Judge Calls State Committee to Meeting on Home-coming Day for Roosevelt Here in Try To Wrest Control

PRESENT LEADERS WARN ASSOCIATES

Hugh Howell Attacks Move of Opposition in Attempting To Split Democracy of Georgia.

A concerted attempt to wrest control of the state democratic executive committee from Governor Talmadge and Chairman Hugh Howell was launched yesterday by Judge Newt A. Morris, of Marietta.

It brought an immediate counter-attack from Chairman Howell and the revelation by the chairman that he plans to call a meeting of the state committee soon to determine if there shall be a presidential preferential primary in the state and if so to fix the date.

Judge Morris, a former staunch Talmadge supporter who broke with the Governor when Talmadge turned his fire on President Roosevelt, has invited a majority of the 120 members of the state committee to a breakfast at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel on the morning of the Roosevelt home-coming celebration, November 29. In answer to this invitation, which was not sent to either the Governor or the state chairman, Chairman Howell yesterday wrote all of the members of the committee.

Terming the Morris breakfast an "anti-Talmadge meeting" and asserting that he, Howell, and the Governor would not be present.

Morris Veteran Committeeman, Judge Morris is a veteran member of the committee and, until the Governor attacked the President and the national administration, he was considered one of his strongest supporters. It was Judge Morris who led the fight at the 1934 Macon convention for the ouster of the late Major John S. Cohen as national committeeman after the Governor, in his campaign for re-election, had bitterly attacked Major Cohen.

In discussing the invitation Judge Morris said that he personally had come to the conclusion that the Governor does not intend to call a preferential primary but that he will have the state chairman declare Talmadge the choice of the old Georgia voters for the presidency and name a delegation to the next democratic national convention which will be instructed to vote for the Governor.

However, persons closer to the Talmadge regime than Judge Morris has been in recent months believe that the Governor has no intention of calling such a convention, he would not run the risk of having his delegation thrown out, a result which is considered certain if he decides to name a delegation which would be instructed to vote for him.

Talmadge Keeps Silent.

As far as has been learned Governor Talmadge has not stated, either publicly or privately, that he intends to call a primary or does not intend to call it, but in private conversations recently he has told his friends that he is certain that he "can and will" carry a majority of the 150 counties of Georgia from Roosevelt and these friends have taken the statement to mean that the primary will be called.

COMMUNITY CHEST TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR FUNDS TODAY

$412,500 To Be Sought by Workers in Atlanta; Greater Need Outlined by Speakers at Rally.

With the confidence and the enthusiasm for which Atlanta is famous, the campaign of the Community Chest to raise at least $412,500 for the city's needy and dependent was launched last night in the Atlanta Athletic Club, where 650 workers assembled to hear talks from their leaders.

This morning 2,000 workers, who are organized like a great army to raise thousands of dollars by Thanksgiving Day, will begin solicitations with the hope, as voiced by their leaders, that "contributions be a little larger than they were last year." Gifts must be larger to take care of needy families and institutions, Dean Rainaldo de Ovis said in delivering the principal speech. He pointed out that the city's charitable organizations no longer have help from the federal government.

"The federal government is out of it this time," said the dean. "But we ourselves ought to take care of our own, and the unfortunate in the community are our own. Every man ought to give such gifts as lie within his power. He should not see the goal of our campaign in the light of dollars and cents but from the standpoint of the needs and welfare of the community."

Representatives from all the 37 divisions which compose the army of workers, bankers, lawyers, doctors, government officials, preachers, heads of charitable and civic organizations and members of many businesses and organizations attended the dinner. Continued in Page 3, Column 4.

Raging Storm Leaves Atlantic Seaboard

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(P)—The worst autumn storm to hit the North Atlantic seaboard in nearly 20 years left extreme damage, snow and ice to night over an area from Cape Cod to Cape Hatteras.

The raging northeaster, which blew down upon the east over the weekend, moved with diminishing force out to sea today off Nantucket while wreckage-littered coastal communities made repairs and assessed property losses in the millions.

Talmadge Keeps Silent.

As far as has been learned Governor Talmadge has not stated, either publicly or privately, that he intends to call a primary or does not intend to call it, but in private conversations recently he has told his friends that he is certain that he "can and will" carry a majority of the 150 counties of Georgia from Roosevelt and these friends have taken the statement to mean that the primary will be called.

SUPREME COURT AGREES TO REVIEW SUIT BY TALMADGE

Action Assured by January; Tribunal Will Push Tests of Three Alphabetical Organizations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Thrusting aside government objections to Governor Talmadge's attacks, the supreme court today assured a ruling within the next few months on constitutionality of the Bankhead cotton control act.

The justices consented to pass upon Georgia's claim that the federal government exceeded its powers in attempting to regulate cotton production through ginning taxes.

In addition to this case brought by Talmadge, Roosevelt critic, and the first in which a state has directly challenged any New Deal legislation, the court:

Heard administration lawyers cite the "general welfare" clause of the constitution in support of validity of a section of the Home Owners' Loan act, which gives state building and loan associations the right to apply for federal charters. New Dealers plan also to use this relatively untested constitutional section in behalf of AAA processing taxes.

Will Push 3 Tests.

Consented to hear arguments December 19 on a case involving constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority law. Advancing this case ahead of schedule at the government's request set three New Deal cases for argument before Christmas—AAA cotton processing (a case from Texas) and TVA.

Gave the government until Thursday to answer the suits of eight southern rice millers seeking to enjoin the collection of September processing taxes.

Handed down one opinion which unanimously upheld the right of Oregon to regulate the shape and dimensions, as well as the capacity, of fruit baskets.

Georgia asked permission a month ago to file an original suit in the high court.

ALL ITALY RALLIES TO BOYCOTT FIGHT

Enthusiasms Turned Not to Anti-Sanction Violence But to Duce's Support.

ROME, Nov. 18.—(P)—Italy went into the economic trenches against 51 nations of the world today with her flag flying.

Troops and police throughout the nation guarded diplomats of countries which put into force economic sanctions last midnight as Italy's war on Ethiopia. But nowhere was violence reported.

Helmeted soldiers were massed on narrow streets, isolating the quarter where the British embassy and consulate are located. Demonstrations had been expected, but there were none.

Authorities pressed a campaign in many forms for Premier Mussolini's "implacable resistance" to sanctions. Women assembled in various towns to discuss how economies should be effected in every home.

"Daylight Saving."

Big business extended further its daylight schedule of work to save light and gas. Although most electricity is made by waterpower, the government is pushing electrification of railroads to save a tremendous amount of coal, all of which is imported.

Flags flew from every building in obedience to the grand council's orders. In Milan and elsewhere, at the theaters and concerts, people rose at midnight and cheered the national and fascist hymns.

Canadian-American Tariff Accord Stirs Flood of Divergent Views

Wallace Holds Pact Foreshadows Increased Imports, Greater Consumption of U. S. Products; Farm Belt Industries Rap Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Secretary Wallace extolled the new Canadian tariff treaty tonight as foreshadowing both increased exports and greater domestic consumption of American farm products.

His formal statement capped a day of grim disagreement over merits of the pact. There was a flood of statements, so voluminous, and in some cases so bitterly worded, as to evoke predictions the treaty might assume proportions of a 1936 campaign issue.

The cabinet officer, who yesterday sat beside Mr. Roosevelt as the President explained the trade agreement to the press, predicted from it benefits for "the whole of agriculture" and increased industrial pay rolls as well.

Other Industries Protest.

But against this argument emphatic protests were hurled by the lumber, livestock, dairy and other interests on whose products United States tariffs had been slashed.

Supplementing Wallace's comment, economists of the Agricultural Department estimated the treaty would go far to offset a loss of $35,000,000 annually in agricultural exports to the neighboring Dominion.

ELLSWORTH READY FOR POLAR FLIGHT

Pilot and Crew Awaiting Favorable Weather for Transantarctic Venture.

By LINCOLN ELLSWORTH. (Copyright, 1935, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

DUNDER ISLAND, WEDDELL SEA, Antarctica, Nov. 19.—(Tuesday) We are now completely ready for the start of the transantarctic flight.

All day the men have been hauling sled loads of material up the steep grade to almost the top of the island, and, at midnight, our time, the last of the gasoline and supplies was loaded into the airplane Polar Star.

Weather Clearing.

It was bright and fine all day, but in the evening low clouds hung in the south. Now, at midnight, it seems to be clearing, the barometer is steady and it promises a fine morning. If the weather is good and the wind is light, we will be off at eight in the morning.

At midday, with the sun shining, we taxied the machine for half an hour or so. The machine, which is a new one, is in excellent condition. The landing gear, which is a new one, is in excellent condition. The engine, which is a new one, is in excellent condition.

Herbert Hallock-Kenyon, the pilot, flew her to the top of the hill and taxied to the gas dump, and then, with several hands from the ship helping, James Lyburner and Patrick Howard, pilot-mechanics, soon completed the loading and final checking.

The machine, which is a new one, is in excellent condition. The landing gear, which is a new one, is in excellent condition. The engine, which is a new one, is in excellent condition.

The British embassy, which with its garden occupies a square block, had an imposing guard. Artillerymen rolled out three ancient light guns from around a near-by military monument, giving an impression they were ready for battle.

Advertising, which slumped badly when most foreign goods fell under a cloud, got at least a temporary stimulus through sanctions. Home producers suddenly found much competition.

STATE DEATH TOLL IN AUTO CRASHES REACHES THIRTEEN

Georgia's Week-End Car-nage on Highways Leads Nation; Atlanta Death Toll Mounts to Six.

Another death was added at 4 o'clock yesterday morning to the tragic toll of five killed and many injured in and near Atlanta Sunday, and four persons are in Atlanta hospitals in critical condition as a result of the same series of accidents.

With 13 traffic deaths reported in the state Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Georgia's toll exceeded that of any other state in the nation. It was revealed last night, Pennsylvania was second with 12 dead. At least 126 persons were killed throughout the country.

James Thrasher, negro, of 519 Strong street, died in Grady hospital yesterday morning, the victim of a hit-and-run driver who, police said, cut over to the wrong side of the street to the curb in front of Thrasher's home, struck the negro and left him dying in the street.

Thrasher's death was the sixth of the week-end in and near Atlanta and the 47th since January 1 in the city limits of Atlanta.

Many Critically Injured.

The critically injured are: Hazel Gilbert, 15, of 485 Forrest avenue, Georgia Baptist hospital, believed to be in a dying condition.

W. Eldridge Gilbert, of 447 Boulevard, N. E., at Georgia Baptist hospital, believed to be in a dying condition.

Mrs. W. E. Gilbert, 447 Boulevard, N. E., at Georgia Baptist hospital, given an even chance to live.

David Burton, of 808 Lee street, at Grady hospital, condition said to be extremely serious.

Mrs. Irene Smith, 35, of 173 Baker street, N. W., in critical condition at Grady hospital.

Mrs. Smith suffered a fracture of the skull when she fell last night from a moving truck driven by Bill Mabry, of Hapeville, according to police reports. The accident occurred at Courtland and Harris streets. Mrs. Mabry, who was with her husband and Mrs. Smith, opened the truck door before her husband stopped to let her out at Harris street.

MANY ARE KILLED BY ITALIAN BOMBS

Emperor Haile Selassie Makes Ready To Depart for War Front in North.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 18.—(P)—The Ethiopian government said tonight Italian airplanes had bombed the civilian population of Enderta, leaving a number of persons dead and wounded.

As Emperor Haile Selassie made ready to depart for the northern front, the government asserted the populace of the northern area around Enderta, which the Italians have occupied, had risen against Italian domination because of resentment over the bombing.

An official announcement said the refusal of the natives to provide cattle and cereals to the Italians without payment had brought on the bombing.

Rethorica's king of kings, said an authoritative source, probably will go to the northern front within ten days, after which Ethiopia's forces will brace for their first strong opposition to the Italian invasion.

The capital heard other reports, however, that the emperor would depart tonight by automobile.

A high authority said Haile Selassie would receive Ras Seyoum, Ras Kassa and Ras Mulugheta, leaders of three Ethiopian armies in the north, beyond Dessie, which is 175 miles northeast of Addis Ababa.

He was expected, this source stated, to review the troops of these three generals and then move on to the southern front, without visiting the troops of Ras Ayelu, operating in Wolkait province.

"Real fighting may be expected during the first ten days of December," said a source close to Haile Selassie.

Olson To Seek Seat Now Held by Schall

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Floyd Olson, farmer-labor Governor of Minnesota, tonight announced that he would run next year for the seat in the United States senate now held by Thomas D. Schall, republican.

Olson, here on state business, completes his third term with the end of 1936.

He indicated that government regulation of public utilities would be a prime issue in the campaign to unseat Schall, who has been a persistent critic of the Roosevelt administration.

"He's for the power trust and I'm against them," the Governor declared.

FRANCE ALARMED AS GERMANS PLAN ARMY OF MILLION

High Official Reveals Figures in Urging Increase in Funds for Bettering Republic's Defense

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(UP)—The new French war budget sets Germany's men under arms at 800,000, instead of the 600,000 forecast last year, and predicts the figure will reach 1,000,000 within a few months, it was revealed tonight.

The report of Deputy Leo Archimbaud, who caused a sensation on July 6, 1934, by revealing figures of Germany's secret rearmament, contains the new estimates.

At that time Archimbaud set German men under arms at 450,000 and forecast an increase of 120,000 by 1935. His new defense budget, which will be presented to the chamber finance committee, attempts to justify French defense expenditures on the basis of Germany's swift rearmament.

The German war threat, Archimbaud reports, constitutes the following forces as of November 1, 1935: Army, 350,000; militarized police, 30,000; auxiliary troops in barracks, 40,000; labor service, 200,000.

In few months, he estimated, the figures will be swelled to: Army, 600,000; police, 30,000; auxiliaries, 70,000; labor, 200,000 to 300,000.

Against this, the French have 700,000 men, of which only 335,000 are able to oppose a possible immediate German attack. They are the metropolitan.

Negro Bandit Slain By Intended Victim

A negro bandit was shot through the head and killed instantly at 1 o'clock last night by his intended victim in a filling station on Memorial drive, two miles beyond Avondale.

Walking into the filling station in which M. F. Rogers was working, the negro drew a pistol and ordered him to throw up his hands. Rogers told police. Rogers raised one hand and started talking to the bandit as he edged toward a desk drawer.

When he reached the desk he opened a drawer and drew out a pistol. The negro, Rogers told police, snapped the trigger of his own gun but it failed to fire and Rogers shot the fellow through the head.

The bandit was identified through receipts in his pockets as Hubert Durden, about 30, of 1550 Foote street.

Fingerprints of the bandit were taken by Captain A. L. Hutchins, of the DeKalb police, to determine if the man had staged other recent holdups where fingerprints have been obtained.

OWNERSHIP OF FARMS SHOWS GAIN IN STATE

Increase of 5,000 This Year
Over 1930 Is Reported
by Census.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A gain of 5,000 in the number of Georgia farms operated by full owners, attended by a drop of 10,000 in the tenant farm operator population, was shown today in a census report giving comparative farm data for 1935 and 1930.

While the number of tenant operators declined sharply over the five-year period, the acreage they tended increased from 11,292,320 to 13,564,612.

There were 75,857 full owners in the state last January 1, against 70,596 in 1930. The tenant operators now number 164,441, compared to 174,390 five years ago, according to the census bureau figures. The full owners till 9,601,750 acres, while in 1930 their acreage was listed as 8,669,731.

Georgia's total acreage in farms increased during the period from 22,078,630 to 25,206,722.

While the number of white operators increased in the past five years from 168,809 to 177,259, the number of negro operators dropped from 878 to 73,285.

The census report included, in addition to full owners and tenants, two other classifications of farm operators—part owners and managers—who handled a comparatively small number of farms.

Speakers at Chest Meeting Outline 'Greater Need'

FARLEY SAYS TVA PLAN WILL BRING DIVIDENDS

Postmaster-General Speaks at Anniversary Tribute to Lincoln.

HARROGATE, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Postmaster-General James A. Farley today described the Tennessee Valley Authority as an "experiment" which will "pay untold dividends in comfort, convenience and more material returns" and predicted its influence will be felt over all the nations.

The Roosevelt cabinet member spoke at Lincoln Memorial University at a program celebrating the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Lincoln Memorial University, named for the former president, is near historic Cumberland Gap where Daniel Boone crossed the Cumberland mountains into Kentucky. It is about 50 miles from the site of the $34,000,000 Norris dam—a TVA project.

An audience estimated at 1,500 packed the school auditorium and overflowed to the campus.

In his discussion of the TVA, Farley said "the question the government had to decide was where its duty lay—whether it was better to let this wonderful source of power and light lie fallow, when its development would give better and cheaper service to a multitude than was being afforded by private corporations, or keep its hands off and trust to private enterprise to treat the people fairly."

BAR BODY OKAYS LIBERTY LEAGUE

Group Says New Deal Is Free To Create Own
Organization.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A suggestion that supporters of the New Deal could create organizations similar to the American Liberty League assumed equal prominence today with an opinion that league lawyers had violated no canon of ethics in offering to defend gratis the constitutional rights of any indigent citizen.

The American Bar Association's committee on professional ethics and grievances held unanimously that the broadcast offer of the league had involved no national issues which "transcend the range of professional ethics."

Acting on a complaint by C. N. Davis, of Atlanta, Ga., that the Liberty League was organizing a "vast free lawyer service" to "buck" the New Deal, the committee declared yesterday:

1. The National Lawyers' Committee of the league is justified in preparing and disseminating "opinions upon legislation . . . with particular reference to the constitutionality of such legislation."

2. The Lawyers' Committee's offer "is analogous to that of the surgeon who daily operates on patients free of charge—a work which is one of the glories of the medical profession."

MRS. B. R. PADGETT SR., CHURCH WORKER, DIES

Mrs. Ben R. Padgett Sr., member of a prominent Atlanta family and wife of the late Ben R. Padgett Sr., pioneer architect and builder of Atlanta, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Hammond, 63 The Prado, after an illness of several days.

She had celebrated her 80th birthday only a few days ago. Mrs. Padgett was a charter member of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church and an active member of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church at the time she was stricken.

She is survived by another daughter, Mrs. C. V. Weathers Jr., and four sons, Hardy, Ben Jr., and Marsh Padgett, of Atlanta, and Frank Padgett, of Jackson, Miss.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

5 WHITE MEN FREED IN DEATH OF NEGRO

ASHLAND CITY, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Five white men on trial on charges of murder in connection with the killing of a negro near here 14 days ago were acquitted today by a jury of Cheatham county farmers.

Circuit Judge Wirt Courtney, who presided over the trial, issued warrants charging conspiracy to inflict corporal punishment against the five—Luther, Jesse, Jimmy and Clyde Dotson, brothers, and their cousin, Allie Brown.

The acquittal came two weeks almost to the hour after the slaying of the negro, Baxter Bell, 45. He had been arrested on a charge of insulting and slapping Mrs. Luther Dotson, but was taken from officers.

Motorist Killed.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Nov. 18.—(AP)—W. H. (Sam) Moore, 30, assistant manager of a Pine Bluff hotel, was killed today when his car crashed into a parked truck near here. Moore was believed to have fallen asleep while returning here from Little Rock.

To End The Itch Mix This Yourself

CHEST OPENS DRIVE TO AID NEEDY TODAY

timism was voiced by the speakers, Dean de Ovies, Julian V. Boehm, general campaign chairman, who presided; Robert F. Maddox, president of the Community Chest, and Eugene Gunby.

"I believe conscientiously that you can go out and solicit tomorrow with more enthusiasm and optimism than in many years," said Maddox, who officially launched the campaign with a brief talk.

"More Givers Than Ever."

Dean de Ovies also said he believed the workers "would find more givers than ever before in the history of the Chest."

"You are not going out depending on luck but on the love of man for his fellows and on the Atlanta spirit of 'Be a Good Neighbor,'" he said. "It seems to me that what we need more than anything is the use of imagination. We must lead givers to see in terms of needs and the welfare of humanity. I believe with such an attitude as we have here we can make a complete job of it."

The careful planning which has gone into organizing workers for the task of raising $412,500 for the less fortunate was evidenced by the arrangement of tables. Every division of the vast army of Chest workers was placed at a special table. About 15 leaders sat at the speakers' table.

Representatives from all divisions will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow in the Athletic Club to report the progress of the campaign, it was announced. Another meeting also will be held Friday. An information desk will be placed in the gymnasium of the club at noon tomorrow to answer questions regarding all phases of the campaign, it was said.

Among those at the speakers' table last night were Dr. C. R. Stauffer, Dr. Herman L. Turner, Lewis J. Sharpe, Sheraton Kennedy, Thomas H. Daniel, James D. Robinson, Mrs. Murdoch Walker, Moreton Rolleston, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Hurd J. Crain, Wylie West, Gordon Brooke, W. C. Harris and Bryce M. Edens. Fourteen girls of Agnes Scott College sang several songs following the dinner.

2 CANDIDATES ENTER ATHENS MAYOR'S RACE

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 18.—With the city democratic primary only two weeks off, Athens voters are making up their minds who to support for mayor November 26.

Entries for the primary have closed with Mayor A. G. Dudley opposed for re-nomination by T. S. Mell, former legislator. Candidates have developed in two wards. In the first ward, Councilman W. H. Paul is opposed for re-nomination by Pryor F. Johnson and in the fourth ward, Councilman R. W. Phillips is opposed by T. L. Elder. Councilmen C. S. Martin in the second and D. D. Quillian in the fifth and George F. Armstrong of the third are unopposed.

FRENCH ARMY BUDGET WILL BE $462,198,000

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Deputy Leon Archimbaud, finance committee reporter, announced France's military budget for 1936 today as 6,953,000,000 francs—about $462,198,000.

He said the government should demand 1,000,000,000 francs—about $66,000,000—more for national defense in view of Germany's rearmament.

Saying the billion additional expense could be carried by loans with only a 50,000,000 franc addition to the budget, Deputy Archimbaud declared, "What is fifty million when it is a question of national security?"

TWO NEGROES TO DIE FOR ARKANSAS ATTACK

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Arkansas supreme court affirmed today the death sentences of two negroes for criminally assaulting a white woman with the ruling that there was nothing in the records to show they were denied the privileges and immunities guaranteed under the constitution.

The condemned negroes are Rubbles Clayton, 21, and Jim X. Caruthers, 19.

Boy Dies of Gun Shot Without Naming Slayer

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Herbert "Buddy" Owenby, 15-year-old schoolboy, died today as he had promised—without revealing the name of the comrade who held the fatal rifle.

Staggering home Sunday, November 3, with a .22 caliber bullet near his heart, young Owenby told his family he had been shot while scuffling with a friend for possession of his rifle, but he steadfastly refused to give the other boy's name, saying he promised "not to tell on him."

Later he said the scuffle began over the carving of a girl's initials on a tree, and still again he told police he wounded himself accidentally.

From the first physicians held only a miracle could save the boy's life. But he kept his secret against the protestations of family and police.

2-POUND TRIPLET DIES, ONLY FORTNIGHT OLD

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Medical science—aided by the city of Chicago—failed to save the life of Barbara Ann, tiniest of three triplet girls born to Mrs. Pearl Schmeltzer, of suburban Maywood.

Barbara, who weighed but two pounds four ounces at birth November 1, died today in an Oak Park hospital, where she and her two sisters were kept in an incubator. Her sisters are thriving.

Recently Mayor Edward J. Kelly ordered the city health department to violate its rule against supplying mother's milk to nonresidents, so the triplets might have a better chance to live.

Bike Crash Fatal.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A collision of two bicycles last night resulted today in the death of Grant Cunningham, 47. Cunningham, riding one of the machines, crashed into another ridden by Charles Patterson, 17. Patterson was knocked unconscious, but his injuries were only minor.

PRESS BODY CONDEMNS SURVEY BY NEWSPAPER

Rural Analysis by Atlanta Paper Attacked by District Group.

STATESBORO, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The First District Press Association in convention here today passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that the First District Press Association in session November 18, 1935, condemn as vigorously as we know how the recent analysis sent out by the Atlanta Georgian purporting to give the status of the advertising field of Georgia as presenting the rural sections of Georgia to the national space buyers in an improper light. "That we call upon the Atlanta Georgian to correct this improper presentation at once to the same parties and with the same prominence as was used in their original bulletin. "That we consider as unethical the action of Mr. Milton Fleetwood, retiring president of the Georgia Press Association, in approving the Georgian survey with only the minor corrections he indicated. "We recognize that, while figures taken from official sources are doubtless true, they are presented in such a manner as to reflect discredit upon rural Georgia. "The committee presenting the resolution consisted of R. E. Ledford, of the Vidalia Advance; L. M. Rhoden, of the Tattall Journal, Reidsville, and B. E. L. Majors, of the Claxton Enterprise. They were to continue investigations of rural conditions in Georgia as reported in the booklet and to report at the next meeting of the association which will probably be held within 90 days. Reidsville has issued an invitation for the meeting to be held there.

Anderson Speaks. W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, declared here today that "there is no such thing as freedom of the press in Georgia." "Our laws forbid it," he said in his address to the editors and students of the South Georgia Teachers' College. His address was the opening feature of the convention. He was introduced by the college president, Marvin S. Pittman, who called the editor "a courageous leader in Georgia journalism."

Speaking on "The Liberty of the Press," Mr. Anderson said: "What we have as freedom of the press in Georgia is what is either indulged in by newspapers by main force and cowardice, or it is bootlegged and an indulgent and appreciative citizenship, making up the juries, protect publications in their well-meaning efforts. "The Macon editor closed by saying: "We must establish and justify a reputation for truth, justice and generosity—truth in news, justice in discussion and generosity in dealing with human frailties. "Of these, truth is the mightiest, for it is by the dim light of this gem that humanity progresses. Without it all our opinions and efforts are as houses built upon the sands. "Following the address, the editors talked "shop." The Statesboro Chamber of Commerce entertained at a luncheon, at the Woman's Club. At the luncheon, Mayor J. L. Renfro's welcome was received for the editors by Miss Frankie Trappnell, of the Metter Advertiser. Congressman Hugh Peterson, of Ailey, was presented by C. B. McAllister, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The congressman thanked citizens of the first district for their co-operation during his first year as representative.

M. S. Pittman outlined progress of the college and F. O. Miller, of Pembroke, issued an invitation to attend "Bryan County Day" next week.

BIG BUSINESS GAIN SEEN AT GAINESVILLE

100 Per Cent Increase Anticipated for Prosperous Christmas.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—After scanning a record of almost doubled business activity here in the past 10 months, Gainesville merchants expect the most prosperous Christmas in years.

Bank clearings have gained more than a million dollars during the year. Building permits already are more than double the total figures for 1934.

Last year's building permits totaled $33,383, this year, boosted in part by public works projects, permits already have reached $86,423.

Despite the biggest building boom in five years there is no housing surplus. Among the federal projects here are the recently completed federal building and the Hall county jail and almshouse.

Tax collections for Hall county are almost double those of last year. Tax Collector H. H. Martin announced last week, and in Gainesville the collection of past due taxes has increased while a substantial advancement has been made in returns.

Local postal receipts also have registered a gain over 1934.

Hall county farmers have harvested a $500,000 cotton crop in addition to corn, hay, peas, cane, potatoes and cabbage. Poultry raising is increasing and dairying and hog raising are taking important places in the agricultural scene.

Gainesville recently approved a bond issue of $80,000 for a water system; another of $40,000 for school improvements, and is to receive in federal grants an additional $90,000 to finance the projects.

County schools for which bonds were voted are Chattahoochee High, Lyman Hall and Riverhead. A number of smaller schools are included also in improvement plans.

SPARTA NEGRO PLACED IN BIBB COUNTY JAIL

SPARTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A negro hooked as Winton Boyer was lodged in the Bibb county jail at Macon early today about two hours after he had been captured by a posse seeking him for the slaying of M. L. Stafford, 25-year-old Sparta motorcycle policeman.

Stafford was killed Sunday after he had stopped a party of six negroes in an automobile to determine if they were intoxicated. As he started to search one of them the negro drew a revolver and shot the officer three times, killing him almost instantly. The negroes all fled but five of them were captured within a few hours and Night Marshal Joe Bowers said all named Boyer as the killer.

President Uses Back Door at the Little White House

President Roosevelt this week will again visit the "Little White House" at Warm Springs, entering and leaving through the rear door (shown below). The mountain slants steeply away from the front porch (pictured above) where the President likes to sit. With the main entrance at the rear, the "front" of the house remains quiet. Associated Press photos.

Rear Door Gets All the Business At Roosevelt's Little White House

By M. L. ST. JOHN.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 18.—

(AP)—When President Roosevelt comes to the "Little White House" at Warm Springs for his Thanksgiving holiday he will enter through the back door, just as everyone else does.

No steps lead up to the front of the house, and no opening appears in the strong bannisters across the front porch.

The front porch borders on the edge of a precipice which drops sharply down the mountain side. So the only entrance to the building is the most commonly seen "front" of the Little White House, which really is the rear.

He Likes Front Porch. President Roosevelt, who will live in his Little White House when he comes here Thanksgiving Day, likes to sit on the front porch. From it he can get a view of the tops of the pine foliage, whose greenery covers the mountain the year around.

The Little White House's interior decorations follow a nautical pattern, with Roosevelt's collection of ship lanterns, anchors, and marine pictures placed throughout the house. Round mirrors give a porthole effect to the walls.

The modest frame structure has three bedrooms, a living room, reception hall, and two baths. Just underneath the front porch is a little house where secret service men are stationed to guard the President during his visits to his part-time home.

One night on Roosevelt's trip here, the secret service agents heard a loud noise down the side of the mountain near the house. As they crept down the hill, they heard sounds like a score of men running through the pine thicket. The agents ran as fast as they could to catch the intruder.

They turned out to be a turkey that had escaped from the President's pen as Thanksgiving Day drew near.

Just to the rear of the Little White House is a table where guides have visitors register as they explain the Warm Springs Foundation to them. The half-million tourists who have come here from all parts of the United States, Norway, Sweden and other foreign countries to see the health resort for infantile paralysis victims, have asked many amusing questions.

Some of them want to know if they can go in swimming with President Roosevelt, what kind of toothpaste he uses and even when he takes a bath. To which a guide, who says it takes "Irish wit" to hold down his job, replied: "You cannot take a swim with the President. I don't know what kind of toothpaste he uses. He takes a bath every Saturday night like anybody else."

Sunday is the busiest day for visitors. And summer is the busiest season of the year, with the exception of the President's visits, which draw crowds of people to this resort.

FULLILOVE RITES ARE SET FOR TODAY

Funeral of Athens Physician Will Be Held in Christian Church.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Funeral rites for Dr. Henry Marshall Fullilove, who died Sunday night, will be conducted tomorrow at the First Christian church. Burial will be in Oconee Hill cemetery.

Death came to Dr. Fullilove, who was 37, in St. Mary's hospital, of which he was a co-founder. He had been ill about ten days.

A native of Georgia, Dr. Fullilove received his medical education in Atlanta and Virginia and had been for more than a score of years a leader in his profession in Athens.

He served as Clarke county physician for many years and was at various times an officer of the Clarke County and Tenth District Medical Associations and the Seaboard Air Line railway's National Association of Surgeons.

Several years ago he and the late Dr. J. P. Proctor founded St. Mary's hospital and after the death of the latter, Dr. Fullilove took over full charge of the institution.

He was a member of the First Christian church, the Kiwanis Club and the Masons and was a large landowner and operated a dairy. Surviving are his wife, a son and two sisters.

BITES OF DR. McDUFFIE ARE HELD IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Funeral services for Dr. James Henry McDuffie Sr., who died here Saturday night, were conducted this afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Burial was in Linwood cemetery.

Dr. McDuffie, who was 74 and a native of North Carolina, had been a practicing physician for 40 years and was outstanding in professional, religious and fraternal circles.

He was a member of the American Medical Association, the Georgia Medical Society, a former president of the Muscogee County Medical Society, and was a co-founder of the Chattahoochee Valley Medical Association. He was an elder of the First Presbyterian church and prominent in the Knights of Pythias and Rotary Club.

His favorite hobby was trapshooting and he was a former state and southern zone champion in this sport.

He is survived by two daughters, two sons and a sister.

BIG BUILDING BOOM ON AT WARM SPRINGS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Building activity is more pronounced in Warm Springs and Meriwether county than in many years, a check today revealed.

Ground is being broken throughout the county for new buildings, both private and for the Works Progress Administration.

Work has started here on a new $35,000 community house, a WPA project. The building, of rustic stone, will house a courtroom, official offices and a jail. It also will serve as an auditorium.

Plans are under way for construction of a new waterworks system, also with WPA funds.

Work is being completed on a two-month job at the Warm Springs Foundation of renovating all cottages in the colony. Plans are being made for expansion, with an addition to the patients' swimming pool one of the main objectives.

MACON BANKS SHOW BIG DEPOSIT GAIN

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Debts to individual accounts in Macon commercial banks increased a third of a million dollars last week as compared with last year.

The Clearing House Association announced a total of $3,148,360 for the week just closed as compared with $2,804,464 for the corresponding week of 1934.

PRESIDENT TO HEAR BIRMINGHAM CHOIR

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Birmingham, Ala., Apollo Boys' Choir will sing for President and Mrs. Roosevelt here Thanksgiving Day, as part of the annual Founders' Day dinner, it was announced here today.

Mrs. Roosevelt invited the choir, after a friend had suggested that she hear the boys on her visit south.

STATE BRIEFS

Light Vote Kills Bonds. ROSSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Although a proposed $21,000 bond issue was favored at the polls here Saturday, 193 to 19, Rossville citizens learned today they would have to do without the proposed municipal improvements, unless another election is held. The hitch is that the necessary two-thirds of the town's registered voters did not participate in the balloting.

The issue was sought to match a $17,000 PWA grant for building a city hall, jail and other improvements.

To Set Trees. THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—City officials are planning to plant many dogwood, redbud and other trees along the streets as another step in the plan of city beautification that has been under way several years.

STATE DEATHS

JAMES W. GARRISON. CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—Funeral services for James W. Garrison, 83, who died at his home here this morning after a brief illness, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rebecan Creek Baptist church.

His father and grandfather were among the first settlers in Atlanta and a number of relatives still reside there.

J. W. McKENZIE. MONTICELLO, Ga., Nov. 18.—J. W. McKenzie, 40, prominent local businessman, died unexpectedly here early this morning. He was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKenzie.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Ideline Shasley, of Oglethorpe, Ga., and one daughter, Oble Allen, Monticello.

Mr. McKenzie was a brother of Earl McKenzie, 88 M. McKenney, of Milledgeville, Ga., Lawrence McKenzie and the late Oscar McKenzie, of Monticello, and Mrs. Oble McKenzie, of Atlanta.

He was a nephew of W. L. McKenzie, of Monticello, and Mrs. W. B. Barnes, of Atlanta.

COTTON SUBSIDY PLAN MAY GET EXTENSION

ELBERTON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Indications of federal compliance followed a request today that an extension be granted farmers to apply for participation in the government cotton subsidy plan.

The request was made in a telegram from Congressman Paul Brown to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. In Washington, AAA officials indicated that if a substantial number of growers request the extension for filing applications for the 1935 subsidy payments, it may be granted.

Under the plan, farmers receive up to two cents difference between the average price of middling on 10 spot cotton markets and 12 cents.

The applications must be made to get the subsidy.

ST. SIMONS ISLAND GETS $75,000 CASINO

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A casino costing more than $75,000 to replace the one destroyed by fire last spring, is to be constructed on St. Simons Island.

Colonel McKinnon, chairman of the County Commission, said PWA had granted $34,583 for the project.

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts inflamed?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. J. S. Leonard known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

'LEAVE CARS AT HOME' NOV. 29, COUNCIL ASKS

City Solons Prepare To Be Hosts and Suspend All Parking Rules.

Atlantans yesterday were asked to leave their automobiles at home when President Roosevelt opens his Dixie campaign for re-election here November 29, and parking rules were suspended as city council prepared to be host to "500,000 persons from all parts of the south who will be here to welcome the President."

Councilman John A. White, fourth ward, was author of the resolution, which he asserted was in the interest of the thousands who will crowd into the city.

"That's right," Councilman Raleigh Drennon, ninth ward, said. "We should do everything in our power to be the perfect hosts on that day. It's going to be the biggest day in Atlanta's history."

During the morning a committee of citizens and city officials studied a traffic control problem, and other sessions will be held later. The group met in Mayor Key's office and mapped preliminary plans to provide space for

Closed Police Session Turns Into Boomerang

The ultra-executive session of the Atlanta police committee, from which the chief, the secretary and council members were ejected, cost about 35 council members about 20 minutes each yesterday.

Alderman James E. Bowden, fifth ward, demanded that every measure presented by the committee to council should be read before being passed upon. Under the council rules, he was within his right, and about 25 papers were read.

The custom is that beer, wine and other routine measures presented by council committees be approved without a reading. Under the Bowden demand, even the adverse reports of the committee were read, but all recommendations of the committee were approved or returned to the committee for further study.

Councilman Howard Haire, vice chairman of the committee, defended the police committee's record.

"We just had a little 'off the record' conference after the business of the committee had been concluded," he said. "All the papers before this council were acted on in the usual manner."

The 177 motorcades which will be here from all sections of the southeast. The council also approved a resolution offered by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy giving any organization the right to sell food without payment of a city license on November 28-30.

HIGH COURT HEARS BARTOW BEER CASE

Appeal of License Refusal by County Is Taken Under Adjudication.

The supreme court yesterday took under advisement, following arguments, the appeal of Glenn Ellison for a license to operate a beer stand in Bartow county. Ellison's attorneys argued that the provision in the beer legalization act giving city and county authorities the right to issue or decline approval of licenses is unconstitutional.

The case is before the high court of appeal from a decision of Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court, who upheld the refusal of the state revenue commission to issue the license over the disapproval of Bartow county authorities.

Meanwhile the court of appeals yesterday upheld a decision of Judge W. E. Thomas in Colquitt superior court involving the incomplete option for sale of the Valdosta, Moultrie and Western Railway. C. L. Jones brought suit against W. J. Vereen and S. S. May contending they owed $750 on a $1,500 option on the railroad property. Vereen and May contended that the option, as submitted to them in writing, differed from a verbal agreement previously made. They said that they declined the option.

Vereen and May won a verdict in the superior court. Judge Thomas denied a new trial and the high court approved his decision.

ALLOTMENT MADE FOR RESETTLEMENT

Georgia Projects To Be Completed by February, Weltner Says.

Completion of three rural resettlement projects in Georgia was provided for in allotment of $287,450 and tentative approval of another $229,000 grant, announced yesterday by Philip Weltner, regional director.

The projects are at Irwinstown, Briarpatch, near Eatonton, and Wolfcreek, in Grady county. The $287,450 will be used for expenses for the end of the calendar year.

Weltner said he expected work to be completed during February. All improvements needed for a modern, self-sustaining farm community will be provided.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration initiated the projects when approximately 22,000 acres were purchased through the old Rural Rehabilitation Corporation.

Upon completion of the improvements, the projects will be divided into small farms and sold to families helping to develop the program.

Weltner said the idea behind the rural resettlement plan was to have the farm families self-sustaining on their own land.

ALABAMA FIRM SEEKS GUFFEY INJUNCTION

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 18.—(P)—A suit to test the constitutionality of the Guffey coal act, and to enjoin collection of the taxes levied under the measure until after the first question has been decided, was filed in United States district court here today by the Alabama Fuel and Iron Company.

Harwell G. Davis, collector of internal revenue; United States Marshal Alex Smith and Jim C. Smith, district attorney, and members of the Bituminous Coal Producers Board for District 13, were named respondents to the suit.

No date for hearing of the petition has been set.

U. S. Fund for Parks, Etc., Is Approved by Treasury Department.

Approval of WPA projects for Fulton county totaling $827,139 by the United States Treasury Department was reported yesterday with a number of park site developments scheduled to receive a majority of the funds. Schools, Carnegie library branches and the Atlanta community service program also appeared on the approved projects, which were submitted to Washington by Miss Gay B. Shepperdson, Georgia WPA director.

The Charles R. Adams park called for the greatest allotment, with $220,478 asked for improvements. The North Fulton park, where the work will be done by transients in absorbing them from the now defunct transient bureau under the FERA, is scheduled for an expenditure of $215,478. Six other parks in various parts of the county were included in the approved list with an expenditure of a total of $23,319.

School building improvements totaling $158,000 were approved for the vicinities of East Point, Hapeville, Bolton, Stonewall, Palmetto, Buckhead, College Park, Alpharetta, Fairburn and Red Oak, with the expenditure for Atlanta set for $55,494. Improvements and repairs at Carnegie library branches totaling $29,156 were approved, as was an allotment of $5,880 for the Atlanta community service program.

Work will be begun as funds are made available and as the particular types of labor needed for the projects may be obtained, according to T. J. Durrett, engineer of the district comprising Fulton and DeKalb counties.

WHY MILLIONS CARRY TUMS!

MILLIONS now know the smart thing is to carry a roll of Tums, always. Heartburn, gas, and other symptoms of acid indigestion have a habit of occurring at unexpected times. You don't have to drench your stomach with harsh alkalis which physicians have long warned may make the tendency toward acid indigestion worse. Tums, a real scientific advancement, contain no soda or other alkalis. Instead a wonderful antacid that simply neutralizes stomach acidity, the balance passing out of the body inert. Pleasant to eat as candy. Only 10¢ a roll. Put a roll in your pocket now.

All Atlanta Startled by Announcement Of Tremendous Shattering of Prices In High's Store RELIEF PROGRAM!

Thousands Ready for Marching Attack On the South's Biggest Stronghold of LOWER PRICES!

Yesterday, the people of this section heard the announcement of High's far-reaching RELIEF PROGRAM—a plan that brought cries of surprise and rejoicing from thousands.

The idea did not appeal to those folks who have so much money they do not know what to do with it. It's not intended for them. It was originated for those folks in all classes of life who are interested in saving money—for all sensible shoppers who appreciate the opportunity of saving—the great middle class—wage earners—housewives—laborers—everybody—yes, for those people, too, who are having a hard time buying even the food they should have in order to develop strong bodies and minds.

Sounds like a fairy story to say such a condition exists in any part of civilized America, but it's the truth even about parts of Atlanta. People who have to skimp and scrape to "get by" on meager earnings—need LOWER PRICES. To these families and all families HIGH'S RELIEF PROGRAM of LOWER PRICES is a great benefactor—EVERYONE WANTS LOWER PRICES and HIGH'S is making LOWER PRICES a reality!

High's is cutting overhead store expenses to cover only barest needs and is giving profits, that would ordinarily go into dividends and the upkeep of a more beautiful store, to our customers in the form of LOWER PRICES—LOWER PRICES not just for today, but for EVERY DAY!

ALL Atlanta—this entire section—hails High's new Relief Program! People in every walk of life welcome this rare opportunity to SAVE!

No wonder all Atlanta cheered the opening bombshell fired yesterday and will come running to High's LOWER PRICES under the great New Relief Program starting this week!

WHERE GEORGIA ALWAYS LEADS

Georgia's unenviable leadership among the states in the tragic toll from automobile accidents is maintained as another gory week-end passes, leaving in its wake snuffed-out lives, maimed and mangled victims, many of whom would be better off dead, and thousands of dol- lars of wrecked property, as the re- sult of the perils of unguarded rural highways and practically unenforced city traffic regulations.

In the tabulation after each week- end of the highway tragedies throughout the nation the states forming the group with the largest losses vary from week to week—but Georgia is seldom missing.

During the past week-end Penn- sylvania led with 11 fatalities, In- diana was second with 10 and Georgia occupied third place with nine each. In the preceding week Virginia was first with 13 deaths, Georgia second with 12 and New York third with 11.

Thus it goes, week after week. As the result of accidents in which the fatalities are large, or of events bringing unusually large numbers of automobiles to the streets and high- ways, the highway toll fluctuates in the other states, but never in Georgia.

Even in states like New York, Illi- nois, Ohio and California, with much larger populations and automobile registration and with many more paved highways, the tragic tolls from week-end automobile crashes seldom exceed those in this state.

As Georgia leads the Union in the staggering losses from traffic acci- dents, Atlanta leads the state.

Over the past week-end six At- lantans met sudden and gruesome death, four are in hospitals criti- cally wounded and a score or more are suffering from lesser injuries as the result of numerous crashes in and around the city.

So long as our automobilists con- tinue to drive recklessly, our traf- fic laws are inadequate and anti- quated, and enforcement is more of a joke than a reality, death will con- tinue to hold high carnival on the streets and highways of Georgia.

The killing and injuring from any other preventable cause as many men, women and children as were victims of the week-end traffic tragedies in and around Atlanta would shock the public into stern demand that the cause not only be removed but those responsible be held to strict accountability.

Because these losses resulted from automobile accidents, they are met with an amazing indifference by those who, either as occupants of motor cars or pedestrians, may be the next innocent victims of the mania for speed.

Georgia has no more vital needs than a driver's license law, an alert state highway patrol and proper en- forcement of traffic ordinances in the state's various incorporated communities.

Until these safety steps are taken, an aroused public opinion must bring an end to reckless and drunken driving, or the carnage of the streets and highways will con- tinue to take a staggering toll in life, limb and property.

ALFREDO BARILI

Few Atlantans were of as wide international reputation as Alfredo Barili, gifted musician, whose death occurred Sunday night in a traffic accident.

Of a shy and retiring nature, Mr. Barili was nevertheless one of the best known and beloved figures in Atlanta, his personal charm and mu- sical genius having endeared him equally to the people of the city to which he came as a promising young artist a half century ago, and to musical circles the world over.

The son of a noted Italian baritone, he was also the nephew of the great Adelina Patti, whose voice he

War Material Pouring In.

ADDIS ABABA—We are seeing machine guns for the first time in the north country. Also anti-aircraft guns. Brand-new, made in Germany. How did they get here so soon? German armament factories sold them to the Ethiopians six months ago, but they could not land owing to the embargo and other difficulties. But anyone could see that the embargo would be lifted some day, if it came to war, and Italy was to be designated as the aggressor, as she was. The war material lay at Hodeida, across the Red sea in Arabia. The Japanese, having obtained permission from the Imam of Yemen, turned Hodeida into a huge arsenal. Without definitely having sold the material to Abyssinia, the Japanese transported the stuff to a spot near enough to Hodeida to ship it to Ababa at the first sign of the embargo lifting.

That is happening now. The Ethio- pians are buying a quarter cash down in gold and the rest in instalments. They are also negotiating loans in London and in other countries for the purchase of more material. The re- sult is that one sees fewer men armed with sticks marching against the Ital- ians.

The roads to the north, in the di- rection of Makale are choked with men. Before entering the area where fighting may be expected they are harangued by prophets and hermits who have come oaks of the Dankali desert. These bearded chaps, who are dressed in the conventional John-the-Baptist style, that is a camel hair mantle over their lean carcasses, are chiefly armed individuals, who do not fighting themselves, but who are great propagandists. The soldiers listen to them spell-bound. So do I, only I do not understand a word of what they are saying.

In Magdala I heard one of these swamis perorate for the better part of an hour. All the time his eyes were fixed on the sky, and toward the end of his sermon he suddenly spotted me and kept staring at me in a most disconcerting manner. I kept on smok- ing my pipe quietly, and toward the end of his sermon he suddenly spotted me and kept staring at me in a most disconcerting manner. I kept on smok- ing my pipe quietly, and toward the end of his sermon he suddenly spotted me and kept staring at me in a most disconcerting manner.

In other words, Mr. Hoover would have the country abandon in their entirety the recovery and re- form policies directly responsible for the nation's emergence from the economic depths into which it had descended as the result of the re- actionary policies of his and preced- ing republican administrations.

His 11-point program includes nothing to safeguard the country from another era of popping banks and wholesale business foreclosures; no plan for the protection of labor; no suggestion of aid for agricul- ture, and no plan for social relief.

While he would thus overthrow the policies of the democratic ad- ministration, under which the coun- try has come far along the recovery road, his failure to outline in de- tail the policies he would substi- tute, leaves it evident that the poli- cies he has in mind are those re- pudiated so overwhelmingly by the people at the polls in the fall of 1932.

In other words, the country should return to the policies of in- action and reaction that wrecked banks, industrial institutions, com- merce and agriculture, threw mil- lions out of employment, and brought the country to the lowest economic depths in its history.

The Hoover address is significant only in its revelation of the extent to which the republicans still have no definite platform of policies on which to fight for rehabilitation of their party and the determined de- sire of the former President to act as the party dictator, both as to policies and candidates. He is po- litically wise enough to realize there is little chance for him to be the standard bearer, but there can be no doubting his desire to dominate when the time comes to write the platform and select candidates.

The democrats have little to fear in the situation, since a reactionary platform and a ticket headed by candidates supporting Hoover policies would send the republicans next fall to a worse defeat than they received three years ago. On the other hand, should they fail to accept Hoover's dictatorship and he and the other reactionary leaders of the party re- fuse to actively support progressive policies and candidates, then demo- cratic prospects would be equally as bright.

A Princeton class votes its ideal girl a combination of Ginger Rogers, Jean Harlow and Claudette Colbert, with scattering ballots for the Bos- ton cook book.

Marion Talley, having taken off thirty pounds, finds her singing im- proved. It is probably a triumph for art, but the corn country loses an ad.

A correspondent describes an Ethiopian tribe that sends its horn- blowers into the thick of the fray. Yet Il Duce insists this country is uncivilized.

Among items thrown at British election campaigners was fried fish. This is terrible, British cookery be- ing what it is.

Buckshot is flying hither and yon through northern hunting grounds, with several cases of enlarged pores already reported.

With republicans getting the seats and democrats the votes, the situation is nicely cleared. The sovereign voter demands lower taxes and a stiffer dose.

As yet the aerial bombers haven't done their stuff over Addis Ababa. Later on, perhaps, there will be work for the royal umbrella mender.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Mussolini offered a good excuse for the recall of General De Bono. He slipped out word that his Ethiopian campaign was too old and too slow to suit him. The Italian dictator may get away with the logical unofficial explanation in Italy, but not among the wise boys here. The best of United States diplomatic and military authorities suspect a far more important half of the story has not been told.

De Bono may be old and cautious, but he is still Mussolini's best general. Also, he is a more devoted fascist than the Rome chief of staff, with whom he swapped jobs. His Ethiopian campaign, as far as the military experts here could see, was flawless. The change, stripped of official hokey, means simply that Mussolini has moved his best general home, where his best troops are also.

The obvious deduction from this is that Mussolini has decided his most important front right now may be in Italy, not Ethiopia.

TIPS But there is more to this theory than deduction. War-wise au- thorities have reason to believe the De Bono recall had a close connection with the British elections which occurred two days earlier. A week ago they picked up information that Stanley Baldwin had prom- ised the British labor party to put an end to Mussolini if the national government was returned to power. British labor is afraid of fascism, would like to see Mussolini sent to St. Helena. That is supposed to be why they offered no more formidable campaign against the return of the Baldwinites.

At any rate, the insiders here have been wondering since the Bal- din victory whether he will press for Mussolini's downfall or turn him into a British marionette. They foresee no other possibilities.

To them, therefore, the return of De Bono means that Mussolini will fight for his life and job, at home as well as in Ethiopia, with his most trusted and popular army general at his side.

CONCENTRATION It was luck as much as British diplomacy which put the world's greatest dictator since Napoleon into the pickle jar out of which he is now attempting to scramble. British diplomats themselves are said to have been surprised at the ease with which they correlated the small nations. It is well known they won the French by threats of deserting the united front against Germany. But when they picked up Hitler unexpectedly, they knew the gods were with them.

A full explanation for Hitler's move is still lacking. The best guess is that he noted the Franco-British line, with New Deal moral support behind it, and decided to join the side with the largest numbers. A con- vincing factor will not be ready for 18 months at least.

There may have been other reasons for Hitler's decree against ship- ping raw materials to Italy, but no better one.

Calhoun be printed on every wall in Washington: "The very essence of a free government consists in considering of- fices as public trusts, bestowed for the good of the country, and not for the benefit of an individual or a party. The system of political morals which regards offices in a different light, as public prizes to be won by combatants most skilled in all the arts and corruption of political tactics, and to be used and enjoyed as the proper spoils—strikes a fatal blow at the very vitals of free institutions."

Today Is the Day

BY CLARK KINNAIRD.

Tuesday, November 19: 323rd day of the year; 57th day of autumn; 30 days until Christmas. Discovery Day in Puerto Rico. St. Elizabeth's day in Hungary—700th anniversary of her canonization.

There is present-day evidence that some of the "dragons" mariners of olden days believed they saw actually were waterpots. It was the custom to shout, beat drums and fire guns to frighten them away.

NOTABLE NATIVITIES. Clifton Webb, born 1898, dancer from Indiana. . . Hiram Bingham, born 1875, explorer, ex-senator from Connecticut, president of national Aeronautical Association. . . Nancy LaHiff Kirkland Mallory, born 1906, erstwhile cinematist, known as "Cy Carroll." . . Jose Capablanca, born 1888, Cuban diplomat and ex-world's chess champion.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS. November 19, 1472—Johannes Resartion died at 77, and the world lost one of its greatest scholars. He saved ancient Greek manuscripts from de- struction, translated the literature and philosophy of the classic Greeks to the west.

World War Day-By-Day. 20 Years Ago Today.—The British started trying to get their men out of Gallipoli. The campaign there had resolved itself into watchful waiting, with British command intent only in departing in safety. But men were still dying, and on this date Lieu- tenant Edmund Priestman, who had been a Boy Scoutmaster at home, "went west." He left behind a letter addressed to a loved one at home, from which quotation is interesting: "I am sitting in a dug-out in a hillside, while a weary fatigue party is doing their best to dig out. This little hole in Europe appears to be- long to a Lieutenant Huggins—at least, that's the name on a valise— and taken all around it is quite a good hole to live in. Our life has become analogous to the life of a rabbit, and vie with each other as to the security of our respective burrows against the attentions paid us daily by the Turkish gunners. Mr. Huggins, so far as security goes, has done well. . . but when he lays him down to sleep he guesses Huggins will be one of the sickest soldiers on the Peninsula, for a party of some 1,000,000 ants are at this moment digging themselves in to present, but it seems that they intend to do all the dirty work for the fel- lows who have taken over our most comfortable trenches, and we shall be sorry to get back into them next Sunday."

The great advantage to our present position is that the hill we are on runs down to the sea, and every day we can get a dip. After a weary day in the trenches we certainly need plenty of bathing, and I caught two of the horrors of war in my shirt yesterday. One of them (the hero) won prize offered for the biggest catch.

"At this point I break off for a lunch of bully and biscuits."

WRITING WRONGS. "Taint so— That 'the sun never sets on the British empire' is something one of his majesty's loyal subjects thought up."

SILHOUETTES

BY RALPH T. JONES.

I want a word with letters five. That means "condition spoofy." That first from slang we did derive; These puzzles drive me goofy!

Another word I've got to find, "Your state when brain's gone hazy." If I don't stop I'll lose my mind, These puzzles make me crazy.

And now a word of letters four, "The things on bolts he puts." Aw, what the hell! I'll do no more— These puzzles drive me nuts!

Wow! What A Public! One thousand residents of Newman read this column. I have that fact on indisputable authority.

A couple of months ago happened the name of Jimmy Beers, the organizer, whose home is in New- town. Now Jimmy says, in a brief note, that one thousand, checked and double-checked, his co-citizens have admitted he saw the brief mention.

(Note to Circulation Manager: Ahem—what IS our circulation in Newman?)

Another "Silhouettes." Judge Frank Harwell, a real poet, has recently honored me with the opportunity to read and enjoy two pub- lished booklets of verse written by himself. And I was, naturally, ex- ceptionally intrigued by the fact that one poem is titled "Silhouettes."

If it please your honor, any pla- giarism on my part was unintended and I am cognizant that ignorance of the law is no defense.

One of the judge's volumes is called "In a Garden, and Other Poems" while the second is "Ode to the Okefi- noke, and Other Poems."

Reflecting The Man's Soul. I don't know whether the judge dreams his poems while on the bench but many of them are of that degree of beauty that can only be the product of dreams. Verse, or singles, you know, may find their source in satire or wit or cynicism or lots of other superficial emotions, but real poetry always goes back, somewhere, to a dream in the writer's soul.

I was, of course, intrigued by the one he titled "Silhouettes," but it did not seem to me as they come first among all. I would not aspire to name the one that appealed to me most, but among others "When It Rains" and "Scene on a Wintry Night," are exceptionally likeable.

On the whole I imagine it is rather a pity Judge Harwell had to devote so much time to the law. Lawyers and judges are plentiful but good poets are all too few.

A Note for Cigarette Smokers. Heard something new about cigarette smoking and choice of brands. Fel- low smokers, get a couple of packages each of ten or a dozen different brands. Money Just Paper Chips.

BARCELONA. For a graphic dem- onstration of the fact that money is merely a system of barter, like poker chips, and not worthy of the respect and fear which it engenders, I would suggest a small collection of American coins and a small collection of their present valuation.

Spaniards have a big, strong, super- coin of honest appearance, slightly larger than the American one dollar. It represents five pesetas, and al- though it obviously is a better coin than the hard American dollar, it is worth only 70 cents. The French franc is now valued at about six cents in American money and is made of brass. The French five-franc piece is about the size of a silver dollar, but it is made of aluminum, or some other light, slippery metal. Although it re- presents about 35 cents in American money it can be turned out in quan- tity at the foundry at the rate of one cent each.

Of itself, the five-franc coin would seem to be worth less. The French have been using the fragile five-franc notes with which tourists Americans used to light cigars to the dismay and disgust of the French people in the Riviera, a wonderful nonsense and have substituted the silver piece. This 10-franc piece is slightly smaller than the American half dollar, but it is worth 60 cents or just about the same as the Spanish five peseta, which is almost twice as big. So, on one side of an imaginary line between France and Spain a given amount of silver in coin is worth twice as much as on the other side.

Proud Swiss The Swiss franc is made of silver and is about the same size as the Spanish one peseta piece and the American dollar. The Swiss franc is worth about 33 cents, the American quarter is worth 25 cents and one peseta is worth 14 cents. Then there is the 10-franc coin, but it is valued at about $1.50.

The Swiss take no little pride in the superiority of their franc, but by an odd quirk of human nature they may like to deplore the high cost of living, which exists even among their people. This makes it necessary to pay high wages and this, too, makes it necessary to charge high prices for merchandise, with the result that living is more expensive in Switzerland than in the United States.

And so it goes with the League of Na- tions, with its lavish expenditures, its prosperity of the city and the rise in prices, there are many Swiss who feel that this is somehow not just right, either. A young Swiss woman who receives a salary of 10,000 francs, of about $3,300 a year. It will be a long time before any Swiss firm pays 5,000 francs a year to a woman clerk in its office, but the trend is upward, and employers naturally view the future with alarm.

Take Profits Meanwhile, how- ever, though resis- tance is being made, wages as stoutly as they can, they are charging magnifi- cent prices for food and lodging, which are the prime necessities of Geneva. The League of Nations has trapped itself in the city and cannot get away, now that its $10,000,000 permanent League fund has been furnished by appropriations out of the taxes paid by various nations which belong to the club, and the frugal, honest Swiss are not prepared to give up their money as easily as they are being asked to do.

So it happens that the hero of the penny-dreadfuls of yesterday, the man who was the messenger boys' delight some 40 years ago, will probably have to stay in Geneva for the rest of his life. He will be a happy relief from gangsters, gunmen and racketeers. Courtney Rileigh Cooper is in Hol- lywood doing the script of the Cody picture, and he should bring to it countless personal recollections that are invaluable, as he was once pres- ent at the scene of the shooting of the agent for Buffalo Bill.

Cecil De Mille's reason for depart- ing from the sort of historical drama he has been making and taking his subject from history nearer at hand is interesting.

"Buffalo Bill's life is the most dra- matic read-made material for the screen that I have ever come across," he told me. "He was a super-hero, and in his sphere just as great as Daniel Boone, Dary Crockett or Kit Carson."

"He started killing hostile Indians at the age of 11. Years later, dressed in the flashing crimson and silver costume worn by him in a Chicago theatrical production, he fought horse and afoot to avenge the Custer mas- sacre, slaying Yellow Hand and hold- ing the scalp aloft over his head in triumph, crying, 'The first scalp for Custer!'"

De Mille can talk on and on about this amazing man who had such a knowledge of showmanship in a day when it was more or less unknown. He tells you that Cody won his nick- name by killing 4,000 buffaloes in four months, so that the builders of the Union Pacific Railroad would have meat to feed their laborers. An- other great feat he accomplished was to make the longest ride in the history of the pony express. This was just before the Civil War, and Buffalo Bill rode 365 miles in 58 hours.

His debut with Wild Bill Hickok behind the footlights in Chicago," says De Mille, "was the most gorgeous bit of comedy ever enacted. He was at home on the plains, in the theater, and in the legislature. His hold on the popular imagination even today is tremendous and he is remembered by millions still alive. In fact, he was identified with so many colorful his- torical events that the difficulty will be in unifying and consolidating them into one straight story of his life and period."

A lot of Hollywood actors are hop- ing to get a chance to play Buffalo Bill on the screen, and there are those who say Gary Cooper is very dispo- sed to take the part. He is an expert horseman and could ride the part as well as act it.

Standard Time. Intolerable confusion was ended and standard time was adopted in the United States in 1883, thanks to Charles Ferdinand Dowd, 58, presi- dent of Temple Grove Ladies' Sem- inary, Saratoga Springs, N. Y. The American Railway Association put it in effect after congress had failed to act.

It took Dowd 13 years to convince railroads it was necessary and fea- sible. He never received a nickel from the railroads for his work, and he was killed by a railroad train.

No Wonder. Chatty: Oh, he's so romantic. When he addresses me he always calls me "Fair Lady." Force of habit, my dear. He's a street car conductor.

Photographer. Joseph Laguerre was born in 1789. A comet was actually appointed to examine his mental condition be- cause of his efforts to have the sun make pictures for him on a piece of metal. He was 49 when he became a street car conductor with Neipee of photography.

MISS CARTER DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Miss Alice Carter, 45, of Reynolds, died in a hospital here last night after being injured in a collision between a Seaboard railroad train and her motor car.

Mrs. Nita Bland, 26, of Sea Island, niece of Miss Carter, also was injured, but J. Q. Davidson, of Columbus, her brother-in-law, said today she was expected to recover.

Details of the accident were lacking, but witnesses told a railroad worker the motor car carrying the two women, and the rear passenger car of the train collided.

Mrs. Bland suffered a broken collarbone and bruises.

The body of Miss Carter was taken to Reynolds for funeral services there tomorrow morning.

The women were en route to Jacksonville, Fla., to visit Mrs. Weaver Woodall, sister of the deceased.

There are no recognized established records, but an army worm has been known to cross an 80-acre field, a distance of one-fourth of a mile, in 24 hours.

RUB soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat. Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients. That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, drawing out local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.

Safe Driving Pledge

In the interest of accident prevention and safer conditions on the highways and in co-operation with the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution, I am making the following pledge:

1. To drive at moderate speed and on own side of road.
2. Not to pass cars on curves or hills.
3. To stop at stop signs.
4. Not to jump traffic lights.
5. In city traffic to be particularly watchful for pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars.
6. Always to give hand signals showing my intention of turning to the left, to the right, or stopping, and not to leave the curb from a parked position without giving a signal.
7. To be fair to other drivers in all respects and to refrain from reckless driving.

Survey of Chronic Diseases Here
Will Be Launched Today by U. S.

A city-wide survey of chronic diseases will be begun here this morning in an effort to determine the relation of ailments of that type to age, sex, occupation and, particularly, social status and types of employment.

The survey, which will require approximately five months, will be carried on under the direction of the United States Public Health Service, with John H. Eades in charge of the work in Atlanta. With 27 enumerators, taken from the FEIRA rolls, working daily in various sections of the city, 10,000 families will be contacted. A similar investigation will be carried on in Brunswick, and in 16 rural counties of Georgia, under the direction of Dr. D. N. West.

The work will be undertaken in 19 states by the national office, with 95 cities being used in the survey. Georgia is the only state in which rural counties will be investigated. Approximately 3,500 workers will be employed in the nation and 750,000 families studied.

The survey of chronic diseases is a new step with the United States Health Service. A similar investigation into contagious and communicable disease has been carried on for some time, with life expectancy being raised from 40 to 60 years during the last two or three decades.

COW STILL MISSING

Hunter Kills Bird, But Loses Bovine.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—W. Grover Anderson went into the woods in search of a cow, missing for two days. Since it's hunting season, he took his shotgun along.

The cow was found and, leading her by a rope, Anderson started home. Then a partridge flew up in front of him. He dropped the rope, fired the gun, and saw the bird fall dead in a near-by field.

He located the partridge, but is again looking for the cow.

15 CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM LEARY PRISON

LEARY, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Fifteen prisoners were still at large today after their escape from the state road camp near here late Saturday night.

A night watchman reported he missed the men about midnight Saturday. Most of them were wearing chains, officers said. The camp recently was moved to Calhoun county from Elmore, in Baker county.

Prison records listed the men as Wesley Ennis, sentenced from Morgan county, June 8, 1935; Jeff H. Hendrix, sentenced for burglary, five to seven years, from Thomas county, February 16, 1935; L. B. Autry, a negro, sentenced for larceny of an automobile, one to three years, October 2, 1934, in Fulton county.

Leroy Chastain, sentenced for bank robbery, 10 to 20 years, from Grady county, June 9, 1935; Bill Brown, sentenced for larceny of an automobile, two to three years, from Bibb county, June 10, 1935; Will Guyton, sentenced for burglary, two years, from Bibb county, June 10, 1935.

H. F. Reaves, sentenced for larceny of an automobile, one to two years, from Fulton county, July 1, 1933; Francis Barnes, sentenced for burglary, one to three years in three cases and 12 months in a fourth, from Terrell county, December 12, 1931.

William Jackson, bank robbery, five years, Thomas county, December 1, 1933; Hoyt Adams, burglary, four to five years, Walton county, August 22, 1933; Flanders Spells, murder, life, Coffee county, April 15, 1933; Callis Davis, burglary, two to five years, Wilkinson county, August 24, 1933.

Ralph Spriggs, attempted robbery, four to five years, Muscogee county, March 22, 1934; James Beckus, burglary, 4 to 10 years, Fulton county, November 22, 1932; James Fulford, cow stealing, one to three years, Ware county, June 21, 1935.

Father Beats Daughter
But Dislikes Same Dose

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Oscar McAlhany, 45, told Municipal Judge Dewey Myers he beat his 14-year-old daughter with a black-snake whip until she was bruised from head to foot and then admitted in court today he thought similar treatment would be "too hard" on him.

Virginia, the girl, was beaten, the court was told, because she tore a gingham remnant valued at 14 cents from a home-made dress. The child said she planned to use the remnant for a belt to wear with the dress.

"I'll tell you," said Judge Dewey Myers after hearing the evidence, "I'm going to pick out seven of the biggest policemen on the force and let them use this same whip on you. I'll let them whip you four times each. How would you like that?"

"They might be too hard on me," McAlhany said.

Pointing to a 6-foot-3 policeman, Judge Myers said:

"How would you like to have him whip you?"

"I don't believe I could stand it," McAlhany said.

Judge Myers sentenced the man to 30 days imprisonment. He said if the law permitted he would have carried out the beating with the whip.

ALEXANDER'S SLAYER
RECITES PLOT DETAILS

Croatian Drew 'Black Ball,' Given Revolvers, Money and Sent to Paris.

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Amid stormy courtroom scenes, Mio Kraj, one of three Croats brought to trial for aiding the assassination of King Alexander, of Yugoslavia, told from the witness stand today how a missing blond woman and a mysterious "Petar" armed the terrorist band in France.

But he insisted he knew nothing of the nature of his "mission" until he left Hungary for France, and declared he fled in horror from Marseille, where the king and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, of France, were shot down on October 9, 1934.

"Petar"—suspected by prosecutors of being the slippery Dr. Ante Pavelich, accused master mind of the plot, gave him two bombs and two revolvers, Kraj testified. The woman, he added, handed him 1,500 francs pocket money.

Fearful to Kill Innocent.
Accusing Dimitrov Velitchko, the actual slayer, who was killed on the spot, the accused conspirator declared: "Velitchko led me. I didn't even know the king was debarking at Marseille."

"The streets of Marseille were full of people. Velitchko confessed to me: 'I know where I must go, what I must do.'"

"The sight of the crowd upset me. I fled for fear of killing innocent persons."

Kraj, who admitted taking the oath of the Ustachi band of terrorists "for the liberation of Croatia," smilingly denied some points of his alleged revolutionary record and evaded others by saying he didn't remember.

He said, however, he was recruited for the Ustachi in 1933 by Pavelich and admitted he lived in the Janina Puzista farm in Hungary which allegedly was the base for the terrorist band.

Agnes Scott Students in "Mr. Pim Passes By"

Shown here are three of the stars in the Agnes Scott play, "Mr. Pim Passes By." They are, left to right, Kathryn Printup, cast as Dinah Marden; Myrl Chafin, as Olivia Marden; and Virginia Turner, as Anne. Others not shown in the picture are Carrie Phinney Latimer, who will take the role of Lady Marden, and Luther Carroll, Tom Wesley and Edgar Neely, who have the male roles. The play will be presented by the Blackfriars at the school gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock on the nights of November 22 and 23.

De La Broise, the prisoner said he did not know Alexander was coming to Marseille.

"Why all the secrecy then?" he was asked.

"Because we all hid our identity. It was part of the Ustachi ritual," he replied.

"Why did you come to France if you didn't know the king was the intended victim?"

"Because we drew black and white balls from a box. The one who drew the black were chosen for the task."

STALIN SAYS RUSSIA IS NEAR COMMUNISM

Leader Terms New Move
Transition Step From Socialism.

MOSCOW, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Joseph Stalin, soviet leader, today announced the coming transition of soviet society from socialism to communism.

In a speech delivered at the closing session of the First National Stakhanovite Congress in the Kremlin, he promised "welfare and a more cultured" life for everyone under the new order.

The congress was attended by 3,000 of the country's outstanding workingmen and women.

Stalin's words launched the Stakhanovite campaign—under which production is being stepped up through an increase in the individual output of workers—describing it as one of the most important movements in soviet history.

He termed it "a preparatory step" for the transition to communism.

Communists point out that Nikolai Lenin, the late leader of the soviets, described state socialism, the system of government and society prevailing in the soviet union, as one of the lower but necessary rungs on the ladder leading to communism. Pure communism will lead to "the withering and dying away of the state," said Lenin.

The Marxist definition of the state is an agency of suppression of one class by another.

SECOND PROBE OPENS IN ALA. MINE DEATH

Probability of New Evidence
Seen in Calling of State
Experts.

PELL CITY, Ala., Nov. 18.—(P)—Probability of new evidence being submitted to the St. Clair county grand jury making a second investigation of the slaying of a union miner October 28, was seen today as the probe opened with the state toxicologist and an X-ray expert present.

Dr. H. W. Nixon, of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, state toxicologist, and F. P. Meredith were here shortly after Judge Alto V. Lee qualified the new grand jury and charged it to make a thorough investigation of the slaying of Virgil Thomas.

The previous grand jury, after a three-day investigation, returned an indictment charging John Rich, non-union miner, with second degree murder in the slaying. At the time nine men, including the superintendent and general manager of the Acmar mine, were under arrest charged with first degree murder in warrants sworn out by Governor C. D. Gray.

As the grand jury probe began here in the union sections of the Alabama soft coal field preparations were completed for resumption of digging coal. The strike of eight weeks.

The strike was settled Saturday night, the operators agreeing to a contract until April 1, 1937, carrying an increase of 20 cents a day on wages ranging from $2.80 to $3.50, an advance of 4 1/2 cents a ton on tonnage work and five per cent for deadwork was granted.

RAILROAD SETTLES CADET DAMAGE SUIT

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(P)—Damage suits totaling about $100,000 against the Savannah & Atlanta railroad were settled for $11,750 today in Jefferson county superior court.

The cases were based on an accident occurring in 1932 when an automobile carrying five midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy collided with a train at a crossing in Wrens, Ga.

The students, en route home for the Christmas holidays, were C. H. Paddy Jr., John A. Smith, Harold Von Weller, Glenn Seymour, all of Albany, Ga., and E. J. Fiddle, of Wyoming. Smith was killed and the others injured.

This was the second trial of the cases. Previously a verdict awarding damages to the plaintiffs was reversed by the state supreme court and a new trial was ordered.

CANADIAN TRADE PACT STIRS MIXED VIEWS

by our tariff act of 1930 and by the retaliatory Canadian tariff shortly thereafter. It is my opinion that the new trade agreement with Canada is beneficial to all people of the United States, and especially to farmers.

"There are a few farm groups which will fear they are being hurt by the new agreement, but actually on the whole the tariff reductions are moderate and in addition there are quota restrictions of such a nature that imports from Canada cannot affect the American price structure by more than 1 per cent.

"This small effect, in my judgment, will as a rule be more than offset by the increased pay rolls of industries established along the northern border and in the northeastern states.

"These increased pay rolls will stimulate the demand in the United States for most of the farm products in which there has been a slight reduction in duty.

"I am thoroughly convinced that the Canadian tariff will prove of benefit to the whole of American agriculture, and that no particular branch of farming will be seriously, if at all, disadvantaged."

Lumber's Reaction.

From the lumber industry, the duty on whose product was cut on the day's sharpest protest and assertions that the treaty threatens to "paralyze" the general economy of important parts of the country, that it was a "blow to forest conservation" and "holds a threat of disaster to wage earners, in large sections of the industry."

These statements were made by officials of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. Previous suggestions had been made that they might seek a court test of the reciprocal tariff act but today none would say whether such action was in contemplation.

Such a test is very definitely in prospect in the hands of the Florida Agricultural Tariff Association. Its representative, A. H. Loomis, said today that the pact meant "quite an amount of benefit" to Florida fruit producers, but not enough to offset "damages" done by the reciprocal tariff treaty with Cuba.

TEXTILE HEAD SEES AID FROM NEW TRADE TREATY

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(P)—Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, declared today the American-Canadian trade treaty would result in a considerably expanded market for American cotton textiles.

"Prior to 1930, Canada was one of our principal export markets, absorbing annually some millions of dollars' worth of cotton fabrics and yarns," he said in a statement.

"The industry sees in this new reciprocal pact an opportunity to regain a considerable portion of the Canadian market, although it is realized that, as a result of the Ottawa, or British Empire trade agreement and other factors, recovery of the former volume is probably impossible.

"Of tremendous importance to every exporter of cotton goods to Canada is the reported willingness of the Canadian government to end the prevailing practice of arbitrary valuation of goods at the border regardless of purchase price.

"This practice has tended to discourage Canadian imports, and in spite of the much higher tariffs on American goods, would have preferred the American cotton—particularly novelty textiles.

"Elimination of the practice will restore to the American industry the benefits of its natural advantages of proximity to the market as well as leadership in style and design."

GRANGE OPPOSES CANADIAN TREATY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 18.—(P)—The National Grange, by a unanimous vote of delegates, called upon the administration to rescind its new reciprocal trade treaty with Canada.

Adopting a report of the legislative committee, which charged the day of individual broadsides delivered against the treaty by many delegates, the Grange said:

"If these treaties are not rescinded, we demand the repeal of the reciprocal tariff act just as soon as congress convenes."

"We already have a domestic surplus of practically every agricultural commodity on which tariff concessions have been made to Canada," it continued. "Foreign imports cannot fail to add to these surpluses and depress the domestic price level on farm commodities."

Ohio was awarded the 1936 convention in a close contest with Michigan. The executive committee will select the city after examining convention facilities.

DUTY TO AFFECT GEORGIA PEACHES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Secretary Wallace said today the Canadian duty reductions on peaches, melons and peaches were of special significance to Georgia.

The new reciprocal trade pact with Canada trims the dominion's 20 per cent tariff on peaches from 20 per cent to 15 per cent, cantaloupes and muskmelons 20 to 15 per cent, and slices of duty on peaches from 2 cents to 1 cent a pound.

SHIPPERS IN FAVOR OF NEW TARIFF PACT

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 18.—(P)—Shipping, banking and business leaders attending the National Foreign Trade Council session here today expressed enthusiasm today over the new trade agreement between Canada and the United States.

Some called it the "greatest achievement of the Roosevelt administration." Delegates hopefully expressed belief that it was the forerunner of similar agreements with other countries.

"B. C." Relieves Periodical Pains In Three Minutes

Now it is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes.

"B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we used to need a drug bottle to do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—(adv.)

Will Appear at Emory

General Emilio de Bono, who at the age of 70 directed Italian forces in their campaign of conquest, surrounded his command today and left for Rome.

The white-headed little general placed General Melchiorre Gabbe, his chief of staff, in charge. De Bono, upon orders of Premier Mussolini, will be succeeded by Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

(Marshal Badoglio announced in Naples he would sail tonight for Africa, accompanied by his two sons, Paolo and Mario, and artillery officers, respectively.)

General De Bono appeared moved by the affectionate farewell of his junior officers. He shook hands with them and urged them to carry on in the names of King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini. Workmen cheered him when he drove to Asmara, Eritrea.

There was every indication that a fierce battle may be fought before Ras Seyoum can be driven from the Tembien area.

The Ethiopian leader has with him two trusted chiefs and their followers, Dedjazmach Maru and Dedjazmach Amare.

SON-IN-LAW OF DUCE SHOT DOWN IN FRANCE

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(P)—The airplane piloted by Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Il Duce and aviator leader with the Italian forces in northern Ethiopia, was brought down today by enemy bullets, but the crew escaped harm. It was reported from Tigré province tonight by the Havas News Agency correspondent.

The dispatch said the machine, struck by many bullets, was forced to land at Makale, under the protection of Italian guns.

Famous Actress To Enact Various Character Sketches at Glenn Church.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, author, actress, and producer, will enact many of her famous character sketches when she appears tomorrow night in Glenn Memorial auditorium under the auspices of the Student Lecture Association of Emory University.

The original seeds for her program of original character sketches came to her during her school days at the Baldwin school and at Bryn Mawr College. She would entertain her classmates with imitations, mimics, and also that she has the rare ability of dominating a stage without becoming monotonous.

Among the sketches she will present tomorrow night are "Nurse's Day Out," "Sunday Driving," "A Lady Explorer," "Times Square," "Hotel Porch," "Being Presented," "On a Beach at Barbados" and "Mortifying the '90s."

Many Die As Italians Bomb Civilian Foes

This authority asserted the main Ethiopian armies have not yet met the Italians.

It was authoritatively stated Ethiopian warriors were engaging fascist soldiers in the upper Takazze river section, 50 miles south of the oil frontier between Ethiopia and Eritrea.

Informed quarters denied any important Ethiopian leaders have joined the Italians. They ridiculed a rumor from Asmara, Eritrea, that Ras Kuma, recently reinstated by Haile Selassie after previous conflict with the government, had gone over.

Seven trucks filled with the emperor's baggage started for Dessalegn today. It was understood Haile Selassie, when he makes the trip, will travel by airplane.

3 BRITISH SOMALIS REPORTED SLAIN

BERBERA, British Somaliland, Nov. 18.—(Reuters)—Three British Somali tribesmen were killed when Italian native irregulars attacked three Somali villages, it was reported here today.

The advisers said the British Somali tribesmen had brought their grazing herds across the border.

The incident was termed "minor" because some of the tribes had not returned to British Somaliland from grazing territory in Italian Somaliland despite the government's instructions.

LAKE TANA REGION AWAITS "LIBERATOR"

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 18.—(P)—Two fast-moving Italian columns, led by General De Lauro, are expected to arrive at Gondar, Ethiopia, said today the Ethiopians in the Lake Tana region "await Italy as their liberator."

On his way here from Djibouti, French Somaliland, Dio Lauro declared, "I am sure the advance of the Italian army in that region will be triumphant and will be welcomed."

Lake Tana, the source of the Blue Nile river, is of vital interest to Great Britain, as the Blue Nile furnishes power and water in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Although some time ago Italian forces were said to be moving in the general direction of Lake Tana, no recent reports have indicated any further advance into that area.

Gondar is about 20 miles north of Lake Tana.

City-County Health Work Merger Proposed by Public Welfare Board

Suggestion for Consolidation To Be Presented to Commissioners and Council by Dr. Adams; Convalescent Home Proposal Raises Issue.

All health activities in the city and county will be consolidated under one director if the county commission and the city council approve plans promulgated by the Board of Public Welfare yesterday.

The merger proposal was regarded as another step toward consolidation of all overlapping departments of the county and city.

Under the plan outlined by W. Eugene Harrington, chairman of the Board of Public Welfare, all city and county institutions and departments working toward public health would be put under the jurisdiction of the Public Welfare Board, with a director for co-ordination to be appointed.

Grady hospital, Battle Hill sanatorium, the city and county health departments and city and county school health branches would be consolidated.

New Home Brings Suggestion.

The proposal came as the members of the welfare board were attempting to work out a plan whereby a new convalescent home can be erected in Fulton county with WPA aid.

It was definitely decided at the meeting that the new convalescent home will be located on county-owned property near the site of the River convict camp, if Fulton can raise its share of the money.

Commissioner George F. Longino, leader of the minority faction of the county board, said yesterday he will insist on the majority faction allocating $33,000, received from the sale of highway certificates, to either the convalescent home or the juvenile detention home.

INCREASE IN NAZI ARMY ALARMING TO FRANCE

tan army of 368,000 men, of which 30,000 are in the reserve corps; mobile forces totaling 73,000 and colonial troops totaling 213,000.

The total of France's proposed defense expenditures for 1936 is 6,535,647,380 francs against 7,122,597,045 for 1935, an apparent decrease of 168,922,665 francs. However, since a cut has been made in the war budget of approximately 530,000,000 francs by reductions in payment to personnel without decreasing the effective, the budget really represents an increase of 380,000,000 francs.

War Budget.

The war budget shows only 4,308,285,970 francs of this total. The remainder is represented by 1,806,643,640 francs in supplementary credits, covered by special loan, for modernization and strengthening of permanent equipment of the army. A total of 630,221,270 francs for the general and mobile guard is included in the ministry of interior budget. Also, 118,223,500 francs for equipment for the gendarmes and mobile guard is covered by extra budgetary loan.

Details of expenditures on new tanks, anti-aircraft, anti-tank, heavy artillery, motorized units, trench mortars, anti-aircraft defense, fortifications and anti-gas measures, are kept secret.

"Because I am a convinced pacifist," Archimbaud said, "I wish for European peace. But I consider that with the present German armaments the government could have asked for 1,000,000,000 francs more for national defense."

What's 50,000,000 francs when it is a question of assuring the definite safety of the nation?"

Earl Carroll Vanities

Tickets Placed on Sale

Tickets for the presentation of the latest edition of the Earl Carroll Vanities Friday and Saturday were placed on sale yesterday, at the box office of the Erlanger theater, where the gala entertainment of dancers, singers and comedians will be given. The box office will open at 10 o'clock every day this week and the manager reports that many good seats are still not taken.

Staged in 45 scenes, the Vanities this year presents a large and decorative revue, with alternating acts of comedy, melody and dancing. A cast of 55 actors, with a score of feature entertainers, will be presented in the varied program.

"Redheads on Parade"

Opening at Georgia

Rhythmic, fast and filled with gay tunes and glamorous girls, Fox Film's musical extravaganza, "Redheads on Parade," opens today at the Georgia theater.

The burden of the action of this new musical comedy falls on the shoulders of John Boles and adorable Dixie Lee. Supported by Jack Haley, Alan Dinehart, Raymond Walburn, Herman Ring and William Austin, and by gorgeous ensembles of adorable redheads, they play the romantic leads.

As for the plot of "Redheads on Parade," it is an amusing story about the production of motion pictures. Dinehart is the producer, Boles is the star, but right in the middle of the production they find themselves with no picture at all, because their backers have backed out.

Through a series of amusing adventures they hook up with another hooker, Raymond Walburn and in the end they manage to complete the movie and the love path of Boles and Miss Lee is cleared.

Urgent Plea is Made For Homes for Visitors On Roosevelt Day

So great is the need of homes for the thousands of visitors expected in Atlanta for the Roosevelt Homecoming celebration on November 29 and the week-end holiday that a special telephone line, Walnut 8821, has been installed at registration headquarters for Atlantans to register rooms in their homes for this purpose. Mrs. Wilbur Colvin, executive secretary of Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce, is in charge.

Although many Atlantans have evidenced willingness to open their homes as a mark of courtesy to visitors and members of the committees representing every section of the state attending President Franklin D. Roosevelt's visit, letters requesting reservations indicate the demand will be heavy. Atlanta women are asked to play hostess to what is expected to be the largest number of visitors ever to come here at one time.

Mrs. George Ripley Jr., president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs and chairman of Mayor James L. Key's housing and entertainment committee, expressed confidence that no visitors to Atlanta will be without home accommodations on November 29.

"Atlanta women have never failed when called upon to aid in any civic emergency, I am sure they will not fail in this," said Mrs. Ripley. Supporting Mrs. Ripley is a committee composed of leaders of outstanding women's groups in the city and state.

Decatur Junior Service League.

Junior Service League of Decatur will sponsor a dance at Forrest Hill Club Friday evening, November 29, at 9 o'clock. The proceeds will be used for charity, as members of the league have supplied many children in DeKalb with milk and clothing. At Christmas several hundred children will be remembered with gifts.

Miss Rose Hosmer entertained at dinner Monday evening at the home of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilson were hosts Saturday to members of the Mr. and Mrs. Bridge Club at their home on Church street.

Roy H. Jones of Hartford, Ala., was the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. P. McGuire, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wister Sharp announced the birth of a daughter born Tuesday, November 12, at Wesley Memorial hospital. The baby has been named for her mother, Eugenia Cunningham Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Harlan are visiting relatives and friends in Tennessee.

Mrs. Will Harrison is spending a week in Gainesville with relatives.

Miss Charlotte Farr is spending several weeks with Miss Eloise Mincey in Sylvania, Ga.

Mrs. Eugene Jackson entertained members of her bridge club Thursday. Master Kenneth Goudy Jr., is improving from a recent illness at Eggleston hospital.

Mrs. Lawrence Everhart entertained her luncheon club members Monday followed by a bridge game.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Farr and sons, Frank, of Aniston, Ala., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farr.

Miss New Honored.
Miss Ruth New, bride-elect of November, was honor guest Friday evening at a lingerie shower given by Mrs. C. C. Loyd at her home on Lawton street. Contests were enjoyed, with Mrs. George Goss, Mrs. C. M. Coker and Miss Grace Ficken winning prizes.

The guests included Miss New, Misses Lucile Allen, Elizabeth Marshall, Elizabeth Chiles, Grace Ficken, Mesdames W. C. New, George Goss, J. E. Brown, C. M. Coker, D. L. Daily, Edgar Tatum, Robert Lansdell, J. A. Hume, Jack Harris and Edward McGonigal.

Mrs. C. M. Coker will entertain Miss New at a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at her home on Lee street.

Prominent Visitors To Attend Lucas-Storey Wedding Service

A number of prominent visitors will arrive today and tomorrow to attend the wedding of Miss Jean Lucas and Frederick George Storey Jr., which will be a brilliant event of Wednesday evening. Included among the out-of-town guests are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick George Storey Sr., Dr. William Edward Storey, Miss Nancy Storey and Charles Humber Jr., all of Columbus; Charles Palmer, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Palmer and Dr. and Mrs. William Henri de Saussure, of Charleston, S. C.; Charles Thwaiter Jr., of Macon; Mr. and Mrs. John N. Cunningham and Miss Willa Cunningham, of Washington, D. C.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Lucas, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. John Arnett Cunningham, of Miami, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. John Lang McIlroy, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Bruce Lyman, of Sumter, S. C.; Dr. and Mrs. Simon Lucas, of Florence, S. C.; Marion Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brantley, Mr. and Mrs. John Bouhan, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cuthage and Harry Dood, all of Savannah.

Mr. Storey was honor guest last evening at a stag party given by John Lucas and Arthur Lucas Jr. Covers were placed for nine close friends of the groom-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridges Give Buffet Supper.
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bridges were hosts last evening at a buffet supper at their home on Penn avenue in honor of their guest, Miss Alexandria Bell, of Cairo, Ga., and Miss Judy Beers, popular debutante. Mr. and Mrs. Bridges were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Beers and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hart. An attractive arrangement of flowers with tallies roses and doli-phium predominating, decorated the rooms in which the guests assembled. The guests included a group of this season's debutantes and their escorts.

Miss Mashburn Weds John K. Tuten.
Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee announced the marriage of their daughter, Julia Lee Mashburn, to John Kimmie Tuten, which was solemnized Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the Lakewood Baptist church. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Al Peacock.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuten will be at home at 1378 Lakewood avenue after a week's visit in Tennessee and North Carolina.

Miss Laura Smith Is Honor Guest.
Miss Harriet Grant entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, as complimentary gesture to Miss Laura Payne Smith, whose marriage to Thomas Moore Clarke takes place on Saturday at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith Jr., on Tuxedo road.

The exquisitely appointed table was adorned with white flowers to reflect the bridal motif. Covers were laid for Miss Smith, Misses Emily Smith, Mary Ann Carr, Mary Russell Irbly, Elizabeth Hopkins, Carroll Hopkins, Betsy Weyman, Mrs. George F. Willis Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Gerdine.

Stitch and Chat Club.
The Stitch and Chat Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Doris Perry on Eighth street. The social committee announced a party for Thanksgiving. Plans are being made for a Christmas party, and to remember some family with a love offering for Thanksgiving.

Present were Misses Isla Mae Chafin, Nellie Biggers, Louise Biggers, Mable Light, Vivian Light, Lillian Woodall, Mesdames Daisy Lills, Virginia Jenkins, Louise Lindsey, Ha Mae Threath, Georgia Green, Grace McCleskey and Doris Perry. The next meeting will be on November 26 at the home of Miss Alice Butler on Calhoun street.

SECOND FLOOR

A Modern Symphony of Coral and Silver

Dramatic—yet most livable! Deep coral walls and gray carpeting form the background. The furniture is gray hawewood, modern in design . . . and the bedspread is silvery gray velvet. Color comes to the windows with draperies in three tones—deep coral, cameo pink and pearl gray, with sheer glass curtains. Chairs of bright coral complete the picture. This is typical of the unusual interiors our decorators will help you create. This service is without charge.

The true spirit of the holiday will be celebrated on Thanksgiving at Osgood Sanders and Cornelia Moore nurseries when 200 children of the two nurseries join their mothers in a Thanksgiving dinner to be arranged by committees from the Sheltering Arms. The Thanksgiving dinner will be in lieu of the monthly mothers' meetings and special entertainment will be provided. Plans were made on Thursday at the monthly meeting of the Sheltering Arms Association held at the Osgood Sanders nursery, Mrs. Glenville Giddings, the vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. William Akers, the president.

A special committee, headed by Mrs. Griggs Shaeffer, to be known as the "Flying Squadron," will assist in Community Chest work during this week. Members to serve on the "Flying Squadron" include Misses Ruth Curry, Katherine Gray, Anne Dargan, Sara Hopkins, Dorothy Shivers, Rosemary Lowndes, Claire Hunnicutt, Ruth Hunnicutt, Lucille Willis and Rosemary Manry.

Mrs. Mattie Clarke Has 87th Birthday.

Mrs. Mattie A. Clarke, of East Atlanta, the wife of the late Rev. Elijah Hanks Clarke, a captain in the Confederate army, celebrated her 87th birthday last Sunday, and was pleasantly surprised at "open house" given by her daughter, Mrs. Burzin Fortune, and her granddaughter, Mrs. W. J. O'Neal, at the Clarke home in De Kalb county.

The spacious rooms were attractive, and the table was set with a variety of various colors. The honoree wore a becoming black crepe dress with white trimmings, adorned with a shawl of white lace. The table was set with a variety of various colors. The honoree wore a becoming black crepe dress with white trimmings, adorned with a shawl of white lace.

The birthday cake, decorated in pink and white, was the center of decoration on the dining room. Surrounding the cake were many gifts presented by relatives and friends.

After the honoree had blown out the candles and opened the presents, her great-grandchildren marched from the living room to the dining room as Ruth Clarke, a great-granddaughter, played a musical selection, each child dropping a yellow chrysanthemum into her grannie's lap as they marched around her chair singing "Happy Birthday." Mrs. W. L. Clarke presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. C. H. Clarke kept the register. Mesdames W. J. O'Neal, Burzin Fortune, Burzin Clarke and Miss Mary Clarke assisted in entertaining.

Present were Misses Dorothy Clark, Eugene Brown, Ruth Clarke, Emily Clarke, Freda Clarke, Jewell Clarke, Martha Clarke, Sarah Bynum, Sarah Elizabeth Clarke, Mary Clarke, Madeline Brown and Nellie Joe Mitchell; Mesdames J. W. Mitchell, Hubert Smith, Levi Brown, Evelyn Lloyd, W. H. Clarke, Minnie Hale Daniel, Sallie Pyles, Gertrude Robertson, and Pete Siler; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Pattern 5231.
Can't you imagine how charming these colors would look setting off a dark frock? The pointed one is accented with metallic thread drawn through after it is finished; the tab collar is soft in angora, and the bow is lovely in light boucle. Any of the three would make a delightful Christmas present, or, of course, you may make them for your own dresses. We guarantee you will want them all!

In pattern 5231 you will find detailed instructions for making the neckwear shown; material requirements; illustrations of the neckwear and of all stitches used. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

When, and when not to cover an honor is one of the most troublesome problems of the game, even for good contract players. Their confusion is in my opinion largely based on the so-called bridge "aphorism," no more than dozens of others equally misleading, that one always should "cover an honor with an honor."

To be helpful, a rule must have few exceptions. When the exceptions reach as great a number as the observations, the rule is worthless.

The fact is that a player's intelligence must be invoked on each individual occasion. But before this can be done, a clear understanding must be reached as to the object involved in covering, or not covering, honors. The object of covering is to promote a winning position some other card held by the coverer, or his partner. Conversely, when no such promise is possible, or likely, a cover should not be made.

To illustrate a standard situation: NORTH Q 9 2 WEST 10 7 5 EAST K 8 4 SOUTH A 6 3

If East covers the lead of the queen, all four cards in the suit will be cashed in by North-South. The ace was the first trick, North's nine is finessed on the second round, the jack drops the eight and ten, and the dealer is perfectly good.

If East does not cover, the suit cannot be run without the loss of one trick. If North next leads the jack, the king covers and protects West's ten to winning rank; if North leads a small card, the ace must be played by South, or the ten permitted to win the trick.

Tables at 'Birthday Tea' Present Novel Tableaux of Calendar Months

By Sally Forth.

THAT there is nothing new under the sun is a traditional fact handed down from generation to generation, but the Mothers' Chapter of the Parish Council of the Cathedral of St. Philip recently made this belief a reality.

Their "birthday tea" given recently presented a tableau of the year in an unusual motif of decoration which Sally takes pleasure in recording today. Each table represented a month of the year, with January heading the list as "Good Resolutions" and decorated by Mrs. J. O'H. Sanders. Mrs. Robert Thompson used Dan Cupid and valentines for her February table; and for March, St. Patrick favors of four-leaf clovers, green pigs and small Irish potatoes were arranged by Mrs. Laura Graff and Mrs. Herndon Thomas; Easter eggs and a bunny rabbit featured the April table by Mrs. S. Swain.

Mrs. Beverly DuBoise presided at the May table, which featured a replica of her home, Sevenables, and her garden abounding her Peachtree road residence. June still holds the record for the month of brides and Mrs. Marie Hempstead taking cognizance of this fact, decorated her table with a model home set with the bride and groom dolls at the entrance. July's table was very colorful, as Mrs. Ora Embig used United States flags and giant firecrackers as the decorations for America's month of independence. Mrs. Raimundo de Oives presented a realistic scene of lone pirates on the Spanish Main as decorations for the August table.

September means only one thing—back to school—and Mrs. Foster Hume arranged an effective decoration for her table. Colorful Halloween jack-o'-lanterns and ghosts were used by Mrs. Bland Terry to decorate the October table which was presided over by Mrs. W. L. Percy.

Thanksgiving and November go hand in hand and this table presented bountiful goodies as arranged by Mrs. C. L. Burnett. Mrs. C. C. Walkley presided at the December table, which featured Christmas decorations, with a miniature house covered in snow.

Adding further to the originality of the occasion were the tiny elephants given each guest, in which was placed the individual contributions to the table hostesses. Mrs. C. C. McGeehee Jr. and Mrs. G. A. Bland poured tea. Birthday cakes and series of plays were served by Mesdames H. W. Indell, S. A. Kirkland, Charles Hancock, E. B. McDougal, B. H. Wagnon, David Little, Marie Hempstead, M. Bradford Hodges and Allan Gray. Edgar Evans, baritone, sang several numbers, accompanied by Robert Harrison, violinist.

MARY LARGE covered herself with glory when she directed the first of the series of plays presented annually at Vassar College. Mary is the attractive and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Large and belongs to the senior class at this renowned college in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

She is taking a two-year course in dramatic production and because of her flair for this particular work, Mary was chosen to direct "Hotel Universe," Philip Barry's well-known play, produced last Saturday in the Vassar College theater.

Students attending Bard College at Columbia University took the male parts in the play, and after the curtain was rung down on the last act, the players repaired to the enormous hall to join the students and their male escorts at the first big dance of the season.

LOVELY Elizabeth Wilmoit, daughter of Judge and Mrs. A. R. Wilmoit, of South Africa, who is making her debut in Atlanta as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Moody, leaves today to visit her mother in New York.

Newly Discovered Hormone Great Benefit to Women Past 45

The age of 45 marks a period of turning point in a woman's life. At this critical age she becomes cranky and irritable. Everything seems to annoy her. She has no energy, no vitality, no zest for life. She is a bundle of nerves, a bundle of trouble.

This hormone has been extracted from glands and organs and is being used with remarkable success in thousands of cases. It is now being obtained in tablet form, together with other valuable agents, under the trade name of "California Syrup of Figs." It is a natural, non-toxic, and perfectly safe remedy for all the ailments of old age.

At an interesting lecture, "The Women Who Want to Live," tells more about the hormone and explains many things that married women should know about. The booklet, written by a distinguished American physician, will be sent to you if you do not feel greatly relieved after taking 20-40 capsules for a month.

Miss Roberta Hodgson To Speak At State Capitol on Thursday

The Senate Chamber Study Group, composed of women members of various organizations in Georgia, united in a desire to study the constitution of the United States, will have as guest speaker Miss Roberta Hodgson, of the University of Georgia, on November 21. The meeting will close a five-month series of weekly meetings held every Thursday in the senate chamber at the state capitol. Miss Hodgson, well-known student of international affairs, recently returned from Geneva and will discuss the machinery provided by the constitution as well as acts of congress having to do with relations with other nations. She is a splendid speaker and her hosts of Georgia friends are given this opportunity to hear her discuss such questions as the neutrality act, sanctions, and the recent warnings from President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull to the effect that "tempting trade opportunities may be offered to our people to supply materials that would prolong the war" and that "our citizens should not be disposed to insist upon transactions to derive war profits at the expense of human lives and human misery."

Members of the study group not able to attend regularly are urged to review the course by using the three articles carried in the Literary Digest of October 26, November 2 and November 9. "The Constitution, Facts and Clashing Opinions." Notice is also given that the Emory Institute of Citizenship next February 10-14 will take as its subject "The Constitution." Members are requested to mark the dates—December 26-28—and plan to attend the meetings of the American Political Science Academy which meets at the Biltmore in Atlanta simultaneously with the Southern Political Science group.

Buffet Supper Honors Miss Betty Holt Becomes Bride Of Rev. Olin W. Sink, of Charlotte And Mr. Adams

A delightful compliment to Miss Marie Louise Commagere and her fiancé, Albert S. Adams Jr., was the buffet supper given last evening by H. C. Biglin, uncle of the bride-elect, at the Ansley Park Golf Club. Mr. Biglin was assisted in entertaining by F. J. Commagere, father of the bride, and Mrs. John J. McConnehey.

Miss Commagere was gowning in a black crepe skirt topped with a silver blouse trimmed with rhinestone clips down the front. The round neck was becoming to her brunet beauty, and the elbow length sleeves had tiny cuffs clasped with rhinestone clips matching those on the front of the bodice. She wore a shoulder spray of purple orchids.

Scrimmage Banned as Jackets Emphasize Passes for 'Gators

GEORGIA HOPES TO CLOSE YEAR WITH TWO WINS

Maurice Green Expected Back Today as Mehre Works for Tiger.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 18.—Out of the Southeastern conference race, Georgia today kindled fond hopes of rounding out the season with victories over traditional rivals in Auburn and Tech on successive Saturdays.

As the Bulldogs began work for the Auburn game in Columbus next Saturday, Coach Harry Mehre outlined plans for the usual practice schedule. Senior members of the team took the day off recuperating from the unsuccessful but strenuous attempts at stopping L. S. U. A long lecture preceded the light drill which was devoted to pass work.

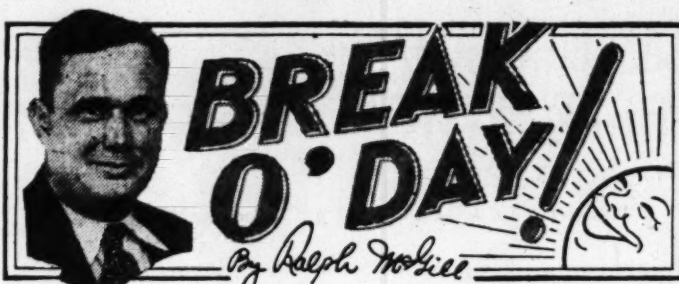

Maurice Green, fullback, is expected to be on the field in uniform Tuesday. Further investigation revealed that he was not seriously injured. He was carried to the university infirmary Saturday night with two ribs believed fractured. No other injuries were reported in camp today, although a squad of only 22 players were on hand for the workout.

Reporting that Auburn is the "third best" team in the conference, Coach Ivy "Chick" Shiver returned from scouting the Auburn-Oglethorpe game, which Auburn won, 31-0. Joe Bob Mitchell, halfback, impressed Shiver as a passer and kicker. Walter Gilbert was termed one of the best centers in the south by the Bulldog assistant. With two easy games just behind the Auburn squad should be at its peak for Georgia. Auburn coaches are still to be pleading for another shot at L. S. U., who beat them in the final quarter by a lone touchdown.

Auburn holds the edge in strength at individual line positions, according to Shiver. The Tigers excel, both at the tackle posts and the center position. The ends are classed about equal. Georgia's guard slots are manned better than those of the Plainsmen. The flanks are about equal.

Shiver rates Georgia's passing attack slightly superior to the Plainsmen's aerial offense. On the other hand, despite the brilliance of John Bond and Maurice Green at booting the ball, the Tigers hold the edge. Mitchell is the chief threat at this phase of the game. All of the capable men on the Auburn team are good pass receivers. On top of this, the Plainsmen boast more speed than the Red and Black.

The two teams will stack up about even as to weight. In reserves, however, Georgia will have a great edge over the Orange and Blue team.

EN ROUTE NATIONAL BASEBALL CONVENTION, DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 18.—The great stand-around begins tomorrow.

The baseball people of the United States will stand around on hotel lobby floors, from which the managers thoughtfully have removed the rugs, and saw enough wood to keep the stove league going all this winter.

Most of the big trades will be announced there. Some will be made for later announcement. But the annual baseball convention is the greatest market for the trading in human beings that exists outside the realm of Ethiopia or other similar nations of this civilized world.

The baseball player doesn't mind the fact that he is chattel to be bought or sold. That is, he doesn't mind it very often. Now and then he is known to rant and rail at his fate. But not often.

And tomorrow that great stand-around begins and the boys will develop raw throats and swollen feet and ankles from standing on the marble and concrete floors. I believe I mentioned the rugs thoughtfully are removed. The boys get so interested in their conversations they drop cigars and cigars and the like.

It is the most interesting convention imaginable. Most of the business is conducted in the lobby. Small groups of two or three, rarely more, get together and whisper. The lobby at the convention sounds like a buzzing bee hive as the delegates whisper and whisper and whisper the whole day through.

They are the David Harums of the modern slave market and they will swear an arm from which all the zing is gone as sound as a dollar. And they will swear that a player from whom age has exacted its toll is in his second childhood and pitching better than ever.

They will explain a batting slump by saying the wife caused trouble, or swear away a fielding debacle with the assertion the fellow had eye trouble which has been cured by a sinus operation.

The innocent man in baseball, thrust into it by the bankruptcy of some baseball company or by inheritance, has no more right in these conventions than an American diplomat at a council of the European nations. He will find himself in possession of an empty check book and a lot of ball players who are spavined, old, infirm and crippled. But, if he stays long enough, he will learn.

SOME GREAT STORIES.

One of the greatest convention stories cannot be told in its entirety. It does involve Joe Engel, the Chattanooga president. This was some years ago when the convention was held at Montreal, Canada—the United States being dry at the time.

And a club owner from the coast was in need of a manager. There was a manager there in need of a job. Both fell afoul of strong drink and by chance ended up on the floor of the men's lounge.

And there Joe Engel found them. He conceived a great idea. He obtained a contract, filled in the name of the manager who needed a job, put the salary at $5,000, and aroused the owner long enough for him to be persuaded to sign.

The next morning he read in the papers he had signed a manager. He was wild with rage. But he had signed him. He didn't even know the manager. But he took him.

The rest of the story is that the manager went ahead and won two pennants for the owner and made the owner more money than any manager he ever had.

THE JUDGE WILL BE THERE.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis will be there. The judge always is the chief speaker at the banquet. And it is he who hears the complaints of the human chattels regarding the wrongs they claim have been done them by their owners.

The major leagues all are represented at this meeting. It is the only real convention of the year. And it produces most of the great stories of the year for both minor and major leagues.

There will be old-timers there seeking jobs. There will be youngsters there. There will be all the great names of baseball on the hotel registers. And faces one has learned from pictures will be seen in the crowds.

The convention, incidentally, coincides with Judge Landis' birthday. He will be 69 years old Wednesday.

THE CRACKER DELEGATES.

Mr. Earl Mann and Mr. Eddie Moore, president and manager, respectively, of the Atlanta Crackers, are along in the Pullman as the Crackers' whispering delegates to the convention.

Mr. Mann hopes to whisper an outfielder and a pitcher or so—and maybe an infielder—out of the convention. I asked Mr. Mann about his whispering. It seems it is all right.

He has been practicing for the past two days. And Saturday he went to the L. S. U.-Georgia game at Athens and got wet in the rain of that day. He can't do anything but whisper. Just now he has it down to a plaintive, pleading tone.

Eddie Moore is working with his whispering and his confidential tone. I think the Cracker delegates will do very well indeed.

It really is the dogs which suffer most from standing on the concrete floors. Tonight the porter is bringing buckets of brine and Mr. Moore and Mr. Mann will pickle their dogs in the brine in order to toughen them for the ordeal ahead.

No one sits down at the baseball convention, and no one speaks, except in a confidential whisper.

NEW MANAGERS THERE.

The new managers will be there. One of them will be Jackson Riggs (Old Hoss) Stephenson. Once I got to play a little football against him. That was when he was at the University of Alabama and a very fine football player.

This year he comes to the Barons as manager. And he will be at Dayton to get his club together. Bob Allen and his new manager, Jess Petty, will be there. The Allens do not spend money. Jess Petty will have to get his players by trades or working agreements with the majors.

Lance Richbourg, newly appointed manager at Nashville, will be there, along with his business manager. The Vols are expected to make a working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds this year, foregoing the one with the Giants.

Mickey Cochrane, Branch Rickey, Charley Grimm and all the notables of the majors are expected. It should be quite a convention. Porter, another bucket of brine, if you please.

CASUALTY LIST CAUSES COACH TO LIMIT WORK

Aerial Battle Looms for Grant Field Saturday Afternoon.

By Jack Troy.

Tech will work lightly for the Florida game—not because the Jackets take the Fighting Gators lightly—but for the obvious reason that Coach W. A. Alexander wants to be sure he can put eleven players on Grant field Saturday.

The situation may not be quite as bad as all that, but the casualty list from the Alabama game revealed yesterday that:

1. Ernest Tharpe, second-string quarterback, has a broken wrist.
2. Mit Fitzsimons, stellar guard, has a fractured rib.
3. Dick Beard, reserve fullback and a fine backer-up, has a broken rib.
4. Charley Preston, varsity center, reinjured his knee against Alabama.
5. John Wilcox, a fine guard, is still handicapped by a knee injury he suffered in the Kentucky game weeks ago.

MORE AILMENTS. These are the major ailments. Other members of the squad are ailing in one way and another owing to the pounding each and every one has been subjected to in the tough games of recent days.

Coach Alexander believes in scrimmage as a conditioner for games as strongly as the next coach, but, effective as of yesterday, he planned no hard work at all for the Jacket squad this week.

"We will go out and throw a lot of passes," Coach Alex decided yesterday. "Rough work is out. If we can score on Florida with passes it will be all well and good. That's the sort of attack we will use for the most part."

There was one play in the Alabama game that was not given the prominence it deserved. The play ranked right along with the forward lateral touchdown play with Red Collins, sophomore center, scoring.

KONEMANN TO BRITAIN. Dutch Konemann had caught a punt and was whisking down the field when Alabama tacklers swarmed on him. Just as Konemann was tackled, he turned and tossed a lateral to Fulton Brittain, guard. Brittain raced to the 12-yard line before he was brought down by Riley Smith.

Well, officials ruled that Konemann had touched a knee to the ground before he threw the lateral, and so the play was called back. It was questionable. And yet the play stood out as one of the finest of the game, regardless of the fact that officials disallowed it after Brittain had raced to the Alabama 12.

The Tech team is highly interesting regardless of the way a game is going. The opponent may be two or three touchdowns ahead, but Tech is always pulling some outstanding offensive maneuver that gives fans the impression the Jackets are very much in the game.

Dutch Konemann has developed into one of the finest sophomore backs in the south. He played a great game against Alabama, and the week before against Auburn, he was very good.

STRONG LINE. Tech has a pretty strong line from end to end and blocking has been showing to better advantage in the past two games.

The Florida management likely will see Tech's passing game at its best. Then, too, the Florida team will rely largely on passes. Captain Billy Chase is one of the south's best passers. Tiger Mayberry, a sophomore, is a fine runner and pass receiver.

The Florida eleven showed great possibilities in the game with Georgia. There were eight minutes left to play when Captain Chase quickly kicked and the ball went like a bullet straight into the hands of John Bond.

BOND SCORED. Bond raced to the 19 and in one more play Al Minot shot around right end and scored the touchdown. Bond kicked the extra point. Thus Georgia scored a narrow 7-to-0 victory in a game that had all the appearances of being a scoreless tie.

But for that one break it surely would have been a tie. Because as the game wore on to the end Florida was boring deep into Bulldog territory.

So the Tech-Florida game will be very interesting. Passes will predominate. And anything can happen.

Buford and Decatur In Midget Struggle

Buford's undefeated Austin sandlot football team will be hosts to the Decatur Bantams at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon on the Buford, Ga. field.

The Bantams, coached by Homer Erwin, a member of the Decatur High eleven, have won three and lost two games this season.

The Austins, coached by Bob Lee, a member of the Buford baseball team, have won five straight games, including victories last night against Norcross and another win Saturday afternoon over Winder's Midgets.

The Austins have scored 137 points and only six points have been scored against them.

Little J. T. Forrester has been the outstanding player on the Buford team.

Riggs Stephenson Will Pilot Barons

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 18.—(P)—Riggs Stephenson, the "Old War Horse" of Alabama's "Thin Red Line" is coming back to Birmingham to carry on as manager of the Birmingham Barons in the Southern association next year.

A. B. (Billy) West, president of the Barons, announced today that Stephenson, whose athletic exploits at the University of Alabama still are live memories, would take charge next year as player-manager.

Stephenson, whose duties began today, accompanied Prexy West to Dayton for the annual minor league meeting opening Wednesday with some cash and lots of players to trade.

"We are going to try to build a contending club—one that can try this year," said President West as he made the announcement, and naming Stephenson manager is the first move.

Bullpups, Baby Jackets To Draw Great Crowd

Tickets for Charity Freshman Game on Thanksgiving Already Past 2,000 Mark.

By Jack Troy.

Frank Spratlin had a reason to feel that all was well with the world yesterday. There was a real spring to his step as he came briskly into the office of Professor A. H. Armstrong at Georgia Tech.

Spratlin is a member of the committee on ticket sales for the annual Tech-Georgia freshman game, which is played at Grant field for the benefit of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children each Thanksgiving Day.

"The advance sale has passed 2,000," Spratlin happily announced. "Most of the reserved seats in the west stand are taken. Response has been better than ever before."

You may rest assured that all is well with the world when busy executives and other stop everything to remember a cause so worthy this far in advance.

ALL IS WELL. All is well with the world when businessmen donate their time to the selling of tickets, and the use of grounds, teams, services of officials, ticket sellers and ushers are all donated.

There can be no feeling so satisfying as the feeling of knowing that some little thing you have done will work for the complete benefit of some little child who has entered life with a handicap.

The Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children receives every cent of the proceeds derived from the annual game on Thanksgiving. This game, together with proceeds from Sunday movies, almost entirely supports the hospital. So, naturally, the more people who patronize the freshman game the more opportunity disabled youngsters will have of becoming well.

So it is that "strong legs will run that weak may walk." This slogan tells the story adequately.

STRONG TEAMS. This year the freshman teams of Tech and Georgia are unusually strong. The Tech Baby Jackets are working daily on offensive play.

It was lack of opportunity to drill on an offense that caused the Baby Jackets to bog down on a muddy field against Auburn. The game should have ended in a scoreless tie.

Freshman Coaches Roy McArthur and Joe Westbrook have had a chance to install an offense, now that the freshmen are not being called on to run plays of varsity opponents, and there will be a vastly different Baby Jacket eleven on the field against the Georgia Bullpups.

In Junior Anderson, Tech supporters will see one of the most promising backs in this section. A fine kicker, is Anderson, and also a very handy man to have around to carry the ball.

The Baby Jackets showed potentialities in the Auburn game. There were several players who stood out. Some of the linemen gave considerable promise.

BROADNAX QUIET. Johnny Broadnax, coach of the Bullpups, has had little to say about his charges. He has been trying to sell sports writers on the idea that the Baby Jackets will have no trouble at all in winning.

So the game probably will result in one team or the other scoring a smashing victory. That is, a victory by the overwhelming margin of a point or perhaps one touchdown.

The game will be well worth seeing from the standpoint of a football game. Those not interested in football would lose nothing by purchasing a ticket anyway and giving it to a friend.

Reserved seats are selling for $1. General admission tickets are 50 cents. They may be bought either at George Muse or the Tech athletic office.

PRAYING COLONELS. The proclivity of Kentucky governors for issuing Kentucky colonel commissions and the popularity of such honorary titles beyond the state's confines led to the nickname of "Colonels" borne by the Centre College football teams.

EVANS RESIGNS FROM HIS POST AT CLEVELAND

Alva Bradley Announces General Manager's Job Discontinued.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18.—(UP)—William G. (Billy) Evans, possessor of the "body perfect" and general manager of the Cleveland Indians for the last eight years, tonight was looking for a job.

Evans' berth will not be filled, according to Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland baseball club who accepted the former American league umpire's voluntary resignation today. The office of general manager henceforth will be discontinued, although it was understood that C. C. Slapnicka, chief scout for the Indians, appointed to a newly-created job bearing the title of "assistant to the president" will absorb Evans' duties.

According to Bradley's statement, Evans had considered resigning for two years—ever since economic conditions necessitated a substantial reduction in his $50,000 annual salary. His services were obtained last season for $12,000, it was understood.

Although he would not discuss the future, it is believed Evans has an eye on the management of the Detroit Tigers, left pilotless a week ago by the death of Frank J. Navin, president and director of the World Championship American league club.

Evans succeeded E. S. Barnard to the management of the Indians in 1927 when the latter became president of the American league. Evans nearly succeeded Barnard as American league president four years later.

The square-shouldered six-footer from Chicago who has devoted more than half of his 51 years to baseball forsook a reportorial career in Youngstown, Ohio, 30 years ago to take up professional baseball umpiring for the Ohio and Pennsylvania leagues. A few seasons later he was umpiring major league ball and was an arbiter for 22 years.

A slight rift developed between Evans and the Indian owners three years ago when Walter Johnson was employed as field manager over Evans' vigorous protest. Evans continued to disapprove Johnson's management until the latter's resignation became effective late last summer.

A recent survey conducted by the Cleveland Athletic Club in which several thousand subjects were examined revealed that Evans possessed the most nearly perfect physique yet discovered.

Relatives of Dead Kid Gridder Hold No Bitterness for Game

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Plucky "Bubber" Byrnes' teammates will line up a last time for him tomorrow to bear him to his grave.

The 18-year-old Notre Dame High school halfback, whose death last night was traced by physicians to blows he received on an inflated arm during a football game, will be buried in the morning, with Monsignor Francis Sullivan in charge of the mass.

Even as the funeral plans were completed, "Bubber's" relatives defied football and said his death should bring no criticism on the game.

"I earnestly hope that folks won't get the idea that we have it in for football," an aunt, Mrs. Alfred White-side said. "Bubber's" accident could have happened anywhere—even in his own house."

"Bubber's" behavior in the face of the knowledge that he was dying won him admiration even greater than that his nerve on the football field drew.

The full Notre Dame student body will turn out for his funeral at Saints Peter and Paul church tomorrow.

His pallbearers will be six husky football players with the other members of the squad following in an honorary capacity.

The lad's immediate survivors are his mother, Mrs. Margaret Sullivan Byrnes, and a brother, Tom. His father died in 1924.

Every effort was made to save the young halfback's life. His mates volunteered for blood transfusions, which proved unavailing. Playing without him Friday night his team lost a game to Central High school, 7 to 6. The Chattanooga Times printed a special newspaper for Byrnes. It showed a Notre Dame victory, 6 to 0. The little

FREDDIE MILLER LOSES DECISION

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Normant Quarles, North Carolina scrapper, won a split decision over Freddie Miller, the featherweight champion, in a 10-round bout tonight. It was a non-title affair. Miller weighed 130, Quarles 130 1-2.

TARHEEL COACH.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP)—R. A. Fetzner, director of athletics at the University of North Carolina, announced tonight that Walter Skidmore would coach the Tarheels' 1936 basketball team in place of "Bo" Sheppard, who was relieved of coaching duties this season on account of pressure of other duties.

He made him happy, but nothing could make him well.

PREP CAGE LOOP MAY BE REVIVED FOR NEXT RACE

Meeting at Tech High Friday Is Set to Form Plans.

By Roy White.

A reorganization of the old prep league for basketball and baseball will be attempted Friday afternoon at a meeting at Tech High school, it was announced Monday afternoon.

The meeting will be held at 2:45 o'clock in W. O. Cheney's office at Tech High school.

According to present plans, the league will include Boys' High, Tech High, G. M. A. Commercial, Monroe Aggies, Columbus Industrial, Marist and one other team. Riverside Military Academy, will be included in the baseball schedule, but since the Gainesville Cadets will be in Florida for the winter session, Riverside will not be included in the basketball league.

Any other high school within close proximity of Atlanta, interested in the new league, is invited to have a representative present at the meeting.

With the organization of such a league, it will eliminate the numerous long trips and will concentrate prep basketball interest.

The teams will have something to play for in the form of a trophy and the city championship will be the reward for the winner.

In the past few years each team has played an independent schedule and very little interest was shown except at tournament time. Some of the teams did not begin to show any real development until a couple of weeks before the tournament and all interest was centered about winning the one group of games.

But with the organization of the league, there will be a continual interest in each week's play, with a title and trophy at stake.

And some valuable experience leading to tournament play can be gained from the league's play.

Boys, High Cagers Report to Johnston.

One of the largest groups of candidates in recent years gathered at Johnston Monday afternoon, as Boys' High opened its annual basketball practice. There were more than 40 youngsters in the group and after brief instructions, the squad was divided into four divisions and long drills at shooting baskets were held.

Prospects for a winning combination were anything but bright at Boys' High, for only Traylor, a reserve of last year, will be available for duty.

Roane Beard and Paul Hickman can play until February, when they become ineligible, but it is doubtful if they will be included in the varsity squad as the basketball season is at its peak in February. House, Echols and Bagby, other members of the 1934 Boys' High squad, have departed, leaving the entire varsity squad open to new candidates.

From that group of youngsters Monday, Coach Johnston sees only a light ray of hope. The boys are much taller on the average than last year, but lack polish in handling the ball.

Teague, a six-foot-four scrub of last year; Tenney, a Texas youth recently moved to the city; Bob Smith, Orestein, Goldberg, Clay, Gearing and Jim Gaston, a son of Joe Gaston, former Tech High star, are likely looking prospects at present. Several members of the football practice will join the practice, after the close of the football season.

Boys' High is anxious to arrange some practice games with strong Sunday school teams before the opening of the season. Games have been definitely scheduled with Lanier High for January 3, in Macon, and January 4, with Albany in Albany. Richmond Academy, Augusta, and Lanier High, also will be played on the Henry Grady court.

Penalty Which Gave Irish Tie Causes Debate

By Jack Diamond.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Maybe a lie detector workout on Cadet Whitney Grove's conscience will clear up the raging debate over Saturday's interference penalty against Army, which gave Notre Dame a 6-6 tie in the game's final 40 seconds.

It seems nothing else will settle the debate, 1935's most frenzied grid controversy. The 80,000 screaming fans who jammed Yankee stadium for the spectacle and the sports writers who covered the game continued to argue over the decision of Field Judge A. W. Palmer, who gave the Irish the ball on their two-yard line on the grounds that Grove interfered with Wayne Miller who was trying to catch a pass.

A private newsreel showing to newspapermen tonight likewise failed to produce a unanimous or majority consensus that Grove was guilty. The rules hold that there is no interference when the defense man is making an "honest effort" to play the ball.

CAN'T TELL BY FILM.

It was difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain from the film whether Grove actually was attempting to play the ball. That's where the lie detector might come in, to offer a bird's-eye view of Whitney's conscience at the crucial moment.

According to Umpire W. R. Crowley, noted grid official who attended the showing, interference was committed by the flashy Army back. "If Palmer hadn't called it," Crowley said, "I would have."

The pictures show Miller almost on the goal line, waiting for Shakespear's toss. Grove is behind him. Bill Grohs is in front of him. On one side, behind the goal, stand the white-knickered Palmer.

"Miller was there all alone," Umpire Crowley said. "The ball wasn't six feet away from him until the other two Army men realized it was coming to him and rushed in. It was a beautiful pass, but it 'floated,' enabling them to come in."

"Grove came at Miller and his impetus was so great that he couldn't stop himself. Grove's left shoulder collided with Miller's right, comprising the initial case for interference."

CONTACT SLIGHT.

Even the film does not conclusively show this, however. Grove can be seen coming in and, even when the film is stopped, he might be colliding with Miller. But the contact appears to be so slight that it might not have occurred. From the perspective at which the shot is made the proof is not definite.

Miller reaches for the ball—his hands are outstretched anyway—and Grove, on his right, seems to reach also. Grove's left hand crosses Miller's right.

"He jerked it down," said Crowley. "In this particular instance, my line of vision was against the play, so I couldn't see it."

But the movie doesn't necessarily show this, either. Grove's arm is across Miller's—and again the film was stopped—but he wasn't conspicuously tugging it, as this scribe viewed it.

The ball is still within grasp of the two. Grove misses it and Miller seems to touch it with his impeded hand, but his grip is not secure and it drops to the ground.

Then the field judge rushes in and proclaims the penalty. At least, his action in the matter was firm and instantaneous.

Northwest Tigers Win Darlington Game, 21-7

ROME, Ga., Nov. 18.—The Northwest Tigers, Atlanta sandlot football team, defeated the Darlington Juniors, 21 to 7, here Saturday night. It was the sixth win against one loss for the visitors this year and broke a two-year scoreless tie with Darlington's Juniors.

The Tigers scored in the first three drives with the Gatt, Rogers and Cox scoring. Baron Roberts, at quarterback, and the entire Tiger line played well.

GOPHERS SECOND, L. S. U. SEVENTH, TIDE IS EIGHTH

Texas Christian and Rice Give Southwest Three Among First Ten.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—This week's college football ranking list is fairly well indicated by the latest developments from the combat zone. Conceding in advance that there's little to choose now among the nation's leaders, here's our "top ten" for the time being:

1. Southern Methodist; 2. Minnesota; 3. Texas Christian; 4. Princeton; 5. California; 6. Rice; 7. Louisiana State; 8. Alabama; 9. Dartmouth; 10. Pittsburgh.

Minnesota, by crushing Michigan, for the first time this season displayed scoring power comparable to the 1934 Gophers. One such demonstration doesn't necessarily prove it's the same kind of a steam-roller but there is no doubt now that Minnesota again is the class of the Big Ten, that it almost surely will whip Wisconsin to finish a second straight undefeated season and that the Gophers can dispute any rival's claim to national honors.

Southern Methodist remains at the head of the class for the reason that the "Pony Express" covered more ground and accomplished more convincing results than any other team last week. After shelling U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles, on Monday with an exhibition that had coast critics searching for superlatives, S. M. U. came halfway across the country and registered another impressive "road" victory, against Arkansas.

T. C. U. OR S. M. U.?

While Texas Christian turned loose a terrific blast of power to trounce Texas, 28 to 0, and move several notches higher in the standings, down in the southwest, where the brand of football on exhibition this year has the onlookers somewhat dazzled, the feeling has developed that the Texas Christians are even better than the Southern Methodist. T. C. U. runs the risk of being knocked off this week by Princeton, whose high ranking this far has been the subject of considerable debate, due to the relative "softness" of this year's Tiger schedule, should be fully tested this Saturday by another unbeaten-undefeated team, Dartmouth. A decisive victory over Dartmouth—trounced last year, 38 to 13, at Tigertown—would remove any lingering doubt about Princeton's class.

California, perhaps as fine a defensive team as any in the land, likewise has the opportunity to deliver the old convincer this week. The Golden Bears, who have yielded only a touchdown and a safety in nine games so far, meet Stanford in the "big game" of the Pacific coast season. The outcome will decide the conference title as well as the west's Rose Bowl choice.

WHAT ABOUT THESE TWO?

If there is still a chance that Notre Dame may be considered for the Rose Bowl, because of the rapidity with which other candidates are being eliminated, it would be equally pertinent to consider the two southern powerhouses—Louisiana State and Alabama. Each has had one setback. Alabama, like Notre Dame, has been tied as well as beaten once, but Alabama's record of five successive victories since mid-October is as impressive as the achievement of any other team in the country. L. S. U. has put together seven straight wins over tough opposition since losing a close decision to Rice in the opening game of the season.

North Carolina, chased off the high road by Duke, and Notre Dame, tied by Army, are the only teams to be dropped this week from the "first ten." Dartmouth and Pittsburgh, making a powerful November showing, are the newcomers.

Few A.A.U. Changes Are Seen for Rules

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Fewer rule changes than usual have been proposed for consideration by the Amateur Athletic Union at its forty-seventh annual convention next month, it was announced today.

Only 30 proposed amendments are included in the report of the A. A. U. legislation committee, which was mailed today to the 400 delegates who will attend the convention in New York December 6-8. Usually the number exceeds 50.

Proposed changes affecting track and field included dropping from the championship program the 56-pound weight throw, 1,500 and 3,000-meter walks and 200-meter low hurdles. Other proposals advocated returning the 3,000-meter steeplechase and 10,000-meter races to the track and field championships instead of holding them separately.

McClain, Mauldin Meet on Thursday

Mex McClain, Mexican wrestler, will make his debut here Thursday night against Gentleman John Mauldin in the main attraction of the regular weekly card at the East Point city auditorium. It will be a best-two-out-of-three-falls go, with a one-hour limit.

In the semi-final, Al Olson meets Swede Hanson in another one-hour, two-falls affair.

Wesley Brown, of Arondale, will open the program in a 30-minute, one-fall preliminary.

MORRIS BROWN PLAYS FLORIDA

the last play of the game that resulted in a touchdown at Harmon, a Morris Brown backfield star, drove over the line as the gun ended the game, but the field was swamped with spectators, whereupon the officials refused to make the decision known on the field, but was later announced, giving the Atlantans the victory at a late hour that night. It was near a riot on the field after that last play.

At a meeting of the conference the game was thrown out and, according to the Dickinson rating system, gave the Atlantans their first Dixie title.

The long controversy over the results of this game has made the two teams involved in Saturday's brawl arch enemies, and the game is expected to be one of the bitterest and hardest of the current season. Hundreds of Florida rooters are following the Rattlers here for the game.

He Leads Auburn's Tigers

Millard (Mutt) Morris, right end of the Auburn Tigers, is the captain of Coach Jack Meagher's surprising eleven. Morris has recently hit his stride and will be one of the forces with whom the Georgia Bulldogs must contend Saturday.

AUBURN TIGERS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR BULLDOGS

Plainsmen Open Work for 40th Struggle With Bulldogs.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Plainsmen of Alabama Poly came through last Saturday's clash with Ole Thorpe without major casualties, and today began working for the 40th clash with Georgia Saturday.

The varsity took an offensive scrimmage against the freshmen, and tomorrow the squad gets a real workout as Coach Jack Meagher prepares his squad for the tough game ahead.

A lot of time today was spent with the dummies in blocking and ends and tackles were drilled in going down under punts to check Broadway, of Georgia. Roton, who handles one tackle, got plenty of work in his timing on going down the field.

As a whole the squad looked good, and most of the student body is hoping the ancient enemy Bulldog will be checked.

L. S. U. Tigers Get Deserved Rest.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Louisiana State University's Tigers got their first rest from football practice today since training started September 2, as reward for their victory over Georgia.

While the university student body was given a scholastic holiday to celebrate the Athens triumph, Coach Bernie Moore told his men they could skip a day on the work field.

The squad escaped serious injury in the Bulldog scrap. Very little heavy work is to be done in preparation for the Southwestern Louisiana Institute game this Saturday.

THE TARZAN TWINS No. 68

With stirring cries, the ape-man led his battle-mates cohorts in a concerted attack on Gudah the Terrible; but the great beast was invulnerable. Two more apes died valiantly in this fruitless assault, and the others were forced to retreat. Gudah was still master.

As the elephant stood surveying his foes uncertainly, Tarzan faced an appalling dilemma. With his allies as a screen, should he flee and resume his search for Dick and Doc, or should he remain and fight with the warrior apes in this desperate, seemingly hopeless struggle?

To the Tarzan Twins he was bound by ties of flesh and blood and a noble human heritage. But bonds of loyalty and gratitude linked him as well to his ally apes, his foster-brothers of the jungle. He trembled now in the balance between man and beast—for Tarzan was both!

The plight of the Tarzan Twins was approaching a point where it soon would be beyond human interference. For, Intamo, the witch-doctor, stood now over the pot in which the boys' evening meal was being prepared. He emptied into it the vial of dreadful poison!

Send-Change Swindler

Hikes Ante to Ten Bucks
The "send-some-change" swindler is at it again, and apparently has decided to make the ante steeper. In the past, the negro woman who has duped numerous merchants out of money has been content with change for amounts ranging from $2 to $5.
Yesterday she raised the ante. "Send a bottle of medicine and change for $10 to 951 Rose circle," she instructed the proprietor of the Rose pharmacy at 808 Lee street, southwest.
"The lady is sick," she said. "I'll take her the medicine and change." The change amounted to $8.85.
The messenger delivered the money and the woman walked around the side of the house, as is also her habit, and disappeared.
Her loot in the past has included diners, numerous quarts of ice cream and various medicines.

DAILY SHORT STORY

SUMMER'S END
The Melancholy Days Were Coming to Mark the Finish of a Beautiful Love Idyll.
BY JULIE VAALS.
The music drifting from the clubhouse and the slow small lake waves washing the sandy beach held much of the same rhythm, haunting, more than a little lonely. No moon, but stars gleaming in the water like clusters of small flowers dipped in quicksilver.
Kay lifted her head with a quick, restless movement. Her hands were clasped tightly about her knees. She did not look at Larry. A little while before that was when he had come for her before this last dance - she had been able to say, "Darling, if just once tonight I act as if it weren't simply any other night, bop me right here, hard!"
He had taken away the small fist she had pressed against the spot of her chin and kissed her. "Come on, little idyll, let's skip this dance."
Now she did not trust herself to speak at all. She leaned forward, her shoulder hunched a little as if against the wind which was blowing off the lake.
Larry said, "Why don't you say something, honey? Isn't everything?" In the almost imperceptible pause she could feel him looking at her - "right?"
Somehow she laughed, a shaken breath of laughter. "Of course, Larry. I'm cold, that's all. This wind isn't like summer. It's turned colder all at once."
"You've been such a good sport. Don't spoil things now, Kay."
"Spill things?" Her voice was quick, bitter. She bit her lip. That was wrong. All wrong. Not what she meant to say. It was the chill wind that made her say that - the wind that froze the waters of her gentleness till they were sheeted with ice.
She thought of the long summer days under blue skies - days when any realities save those of the blissful present seemed remote. Days of boating on the cool waters of the lake, or walking through green-arched paths. Days that could never be again; even now the wind seemed a kind of requiem of them.
She thought of the dreamy nights they had danced away together, nights filled with music and laughter. Nights when the world had but two people in it - themselves. Nights like this. Only this was the last, and a child wind was blowing. A wind whose sound had finality in it. What was ahead? Only -
Her arms caught him closer. "Just once see you this way. If you didn't really mean to let me go."
There was something peculiarly masculine in his protesting sigh. "Don't say I didn't shoot away, Kay. That I didn't tell you."
"He smile was wry. "Oh, you told me. But I was a fool. How did I know I'd feel so primitive about you? I thought I'd take you to the club, or walking through green-arched paths. Days that could never be again; even now the wind seemed a kind of requiem of them."

DEATH THREATS BARED

IN TRIAL OF TEACHER
Edith Maxwell Pleads She Killed Her Father in Self-Defense.
WISSE, Va., Nov. 18. - (P) - Pleading self-defense in the slaying of her father as he advanced upon her after threatening a whipping, Edith Maxwell, 21-year-old school teacher, today heard prosecution witnesses testify she had made numerous threats to kill him.
Ruth Baker, her roommate at the Radford State Teachers' College, said Miss Maxwell threatened to kill her father two years ago.
Asked how often she heard the threat she said:
"Dozens of times."
Miss Atlanta Cantrell, another schoolmate, said she had heard Edith say she didn't like her father. Everett Holleyfield said he heard Miss Maxwell say a year before the slaying that she would laugh if she saw her father "laying out dead." Conrad Bolling, a school teacher, who had known Edith nine years, said he once said playfully that her father might whip her and quoted her as replying: "I'd like for him to try it. I'd kill him."
Premeditation Charged.
These witnesses were brought to the stand as the prosecution sought to prove the young school teacher was guilty of premeditated murder in killing her father, Trigg Maxwell, 52-year-old blacksmith, the night of July 21 in their cabin at Pound.
An entirely different picture was presented by A. A. Skeen, of defense counsel, as he told the jury the young teacher defended herself as her father, drinking and with a knife in his hand, advanced upon her after threatening a whipping for keeping late hours.
"No father has the right to chastise a 21-year-old daughter," Skeen said. "The defense lawyer said he would seek to prove the knife was knocked from Trigg Maxwell's hand, that he then grasped his daughter by the hair over a rocking chair. As he advanced against Edith, she hit him several times over the head with the heel of a slipper, but at first believed his chief injury the result of striking her head against a meat block as he fell."
Miss Maxwell wept as Skeen talked. The prosecution rested late in the afternoon and court adjourned until tomorrow, following the testimony of testimony. Edith and her younger sister will take the stand then.
Mrs. Maxwell told her story of a family row unemotionally but in detail.
Man Said Drunk.
Trigg was "roaring drunk," she said, when she came home at 10:30 the night of his death. He threatened to give his wife 30 minutes to leave the house the next morning, she said. "I seen he'd been drinking," the woman testified, "and he said nothing to him, just told him to go to bed." Trigg did not go to bed, she said, but came to his wife later and asked where their daughter Edith was.
"A man ought to take a club and break her damned neck - a man ought to kill her," Mrs. Maxwell quoted him as saying. "I seen him say 'New Deal' in and was told by her 11-year-old sister, Mary Catherine, that 'Daddy's going to run mother off.' Mrs. Maxwell said that Edith tried to console her when her girl that her mother would not leave her.
She was in bed, the woman said, when she heard a scuffle between Trigg and his daughter. She heard Edith say, "You stab me with that butcher knife."
On cross-examination she testified that she had not told the doctor who examined Trigg's body of the scuffle between father and daughter because "I allowed he'd ask me if he wanted to know about that." She identified clothing as her husband's which was on the body when he was found.
Other Testimony.
Conflicting with Skeen's statement and testimony which the defense was expected to offer was the testimony of Clarence Groeschel, a New Deal restaurant proprietor, that Trigg Maxwell was not drunk, although Groeschel said he had sold him three bottles of beer. Hazel Sturgill, a waitress, said she saw Maxwell and that he did not appear to be drinking at the time.
Chant Kelley, neighbor, testified he heard "muffled sounds" in the Maxwell cottage an hour or so before Maxwell died, but was told by Edith: "There is no fire here. You need not have come."
Later Kelley said, 11-year-old Catherine Maxwell, sister of Edith, came to his home saying "daddy is lying." He heard her come back and found Maxwell lying on his back on the porch. He said it was about 1 a. m. when he first went to the Maxwell home and that Trigg Maxwell died about 2:30 a. m.

WISSE, Va., Nov. 18. - (P) - Pleading self-defense in the slaying of her father as he advanced upon her after threatening a whipping, Edith Maxwell, 21-year-old school teacher, today heard prosecution witnesses testify she had made numerous threats to kill him.
Ruth Baker, her roommate at the Radford State Teachers' College, said Miss Maxwell threatened to kill her father two years ago.
Asked how often she heard the threat she said:
"Dozens of times."
Miss Atlanta Cantrell, another schoolmate, said she had heard Edith say she didn't like her father. Everett Holleyfield said he heard Miss Maxwell say a year before the slaying that she would laugh if she saw her father "laying out dead." Conrad Bolling, a school teacher, who had known Edith nine years, said he once said playfully that her father might whip her and quoted her as replying: "I'd like for him to try it. I'd kill him."
Premeditation Charged.
These witnesses were brought to the stand as the prosecution sought to prove the young school teacher was guilty of premeditated murder in killing her father, Trigg Maxwell, 52-year-old blacksmith, the night of July 21 in their cabin at Pound.
An entirely different picture was presented by A. A. Skeen, of defense counsel, as he told the jury the young teacher defended herself as her father, drinking and with a knife in his hand, advanced upon her after threatening a whipping for keeping late hours.
"No father has the right to chastise a 21-year-old daughter," Skeen said. "The defense lawyer said he would seek to prove the knife was knocked from Trigg Maxwell's hand, that he then grasped his daughter by the hair over a rocking chair. As he advanced against Edith, she hit him several times over the head with the heel of a slipper, but at first believed his chief injury the result of striking her head against a meat block as he fell."
Miss Maxwell wept as Skeen talked. The prosecution rested late in the afternoon and court adjourned until tomorrow, following the testimony of testimony. Edith and her younger sister will take the stand then.
Mrs. Maxwell told her story of a family row unemotionally but in detail.
Man Said Drunk.
Trigg was "roaring drunk," she said, when she came home at 10:30 the night of his death. He threatened to give his wife 30 minutes to leave the house the next morning, she said. "I seen he'd been drinking," the woman testified, "and he said nothing to him, just told him to go to bed." Trigg did not go to bed, she said, but came to his wife later and asked where their daughter Edith was.
"A man ought to take a club and break her damned neck - a man ought to kill her," Mrs. Maxwell quoted him as saying. "I seen him say 'New Deal' in and was told by her 11-year-old sister, Mary Catherine, that 'Daddy's going to run mother off.' Mrs. Maxwell said that Edith tried to console her when her girl that her mother would not leave her.
She was in bed, the woman said, when she heard a scuffle between Trigg and his daughter. She heard Edith say, "You stab me with that butcher knife."
On cross-examination she testified that she had not told the doctor who examined Trigg's body of the scuffle between father and daughter because "I allowed he'd ask me if he wanted to know about that." She identified clothing as her husband's which was on the body when he was found.
Other Testimony.
Conflicting with Skeen's statement and testimony which the defense was expected to offer was the testimony of Clarence Groeschel, a New Deal restaurant proprietor, that Trigg Maxwell was not drunk, although Groeschel said he had sold him three bottles of beer. Hazel Sturgill, a waitress, said she saw Maxwell and that he did not appear to be drinking at the time.
Chant Kelley, neighbor, testified he heard "muffled sounds" in the Maxwell cottage an hour or so before Maxwell died, but was told by Edith: "There is no fire here. You need not have come."
Later Kelley said, 11-year-old Catherine Maxwell, sister of Edith, came to his home saying "daddy is lying." He heard her come back and found Maxwell lying on his back on the porch. He said it was about 1 a. m. when he first went to the Maxwell home and that Trigg Maxwell died about 2:30 a. m.

SAVANNAH'S SELECT SITES FOR 4 MARKERS

Fort Wayne and Pulaski, Bonaventure and Beau-lieu Named.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—(P)—Four historic sites in and near Savannah have been selected for marking by the joint committee on memorials here. E. H. Abrahams, chairman, has announced.

The list is to be submitted to Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology, in charge of historic markers to be donated by the federal government.

Fort Wayne fortification, Fort Pulaski, Bonaventure cemetery and Beau-lieu are the sites selected.

The first—Fort Wayne—was used from the earliest colonial period for the city's defense. Formerly known as Fort Mifflin, it was captured by the British in 1778. After the Revolution, it was renamed in honor of "Mac" Anthony Wayne. It was also used during the War of 1812.

A part of the old brick wall still stands and holds a commanding view over the Savannah bluff on the Savannah river.

Fort Wayne is now the site of the Savannah Gas Company plant. The memorial is sponsored by the Josiah Tattnall chapter of the Daughters of 1812.

Fort Pulaski, memorable in the annals of the War Between the States, has been taken over by the National Park Service and is in process of restoration.

The Savannah chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy desires a tablet to mark an event during a battle by federal forces in which Lieutenant Christopher Hussey and Private John Lathan, of the Washington Volunteers, rigged a temporary staff for the Confederate flag after it had been shot away.

The Bonaventure cemetery marker, sponsored by the Bonaventure chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, contains the remains of many historic figures. The marker would be placed at its entrance.

Beaulieu is a tract of 500 acres granted in 1738 to William Stephens, first President of the colony of Georgia after Oglethorpe. The Georgia Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution would sponsor the marker.

Here on September 12, 1778, Count D'Estaing landed to join the Americans in the Battle of Savannah. It is said this was the first time French and American forces fought side by side.

Additional sites suggested by the committee, but for which no sponsors have offered to pay transportation and erection costs for markers, include colonial Filature building site; Telfair Academy site; Mulberry Grove, the home of General Nathaniel Greene and Bethesda Orphan home.

The senator, recovering from a cold, said he had not given the matter consideration because of illness which has kept him from his office.

He said he was feeling better today and was able to be about the house. He expects to return to his office tomorrow.

The senator said an announcement concerning the vacancy in the marshal's office may be made later in the week.

In Savannah, political gossip said Julius Morcan, Pembroke banker, and Henry Walthour, Savannah real estate man and Chatham county commissioner, were among those mentioned as possible selections for the post.

VIENNA, Ga., Nov. 18.—(P)—Senator Walter F. George said today he had not yet made a recommendation for a successor to Joseph Crawley, of Waycross, United States marshal for the southern district of Georgia, who died last week after a long illness.
